

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XVI.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1888.

NO. 70

GOD IS LOVE AND NOTHING ELSE

PRAISE THE LORD.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

BROOKVILLE, IND., OCT. 5, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR—This town is bristling with poles; long, short, thick, thin; flying stars and stripes, or crowned with a tuft of the top leaves of the original sapling; poles for Cleveland, poles for Harrison; a veritable Pole-lane; spikes as Mr. Crutcher's head of hair; and breathing defiance to the other fellows. For politics, like religion, resents any difference of opinion and ruffles its feathers polemical (pun purely accidental) on the least appearance of an opposing thought.

I saw, not long ago, a beautiful definition of "Christian Liberty," which I have since tried to put into practice, with more or less success. As generally accepted, "C. L." is supposed to be that desirable freedom of thinking as one pleases, on any subject—only limited, of course, by wrong and right. But the C. L. we all need more than that is to allow the OTHER FELLOW to think as he pleases. We all need to get as far away from Lord Derby's definition of an "agreeable person" as possible. His apprehension of an "agreeable" being is "one who agrees with me." Alas! the Widow Bedott was right—"we are all pore creatures."

The Presbyterian preacher, whom we all went to hear Sunday morning, as a sort of "return call" for his politeness in hearing the whole of my first sermon, and a small fragment of the third, asserted his right to C. L. very vigorously, by a terrific onslaught on my theology. He assailed what he had heard himself, and more that he had heard from others; and he was fully up to the "4th proof" adium theologium standard, in both the style and tenor of his remarks. He is a young man, not long out of the Seminary; and quite reminded me of what I was over 30 years ago, when I thought that a successful examination before Presbytery endowed me with the wisdom needful to cope with every form of error—past, present and future. As I listened, with the above definition of C. L. well to the front, I could not but pity this fine, brainy young man, who had so many painful lessons yet to learn. Apparently, he has chosen to learn them on the rough road of "experience," where I learned mine. Nor the best road, nor the "best teacher," as men assert; but better learn there than die in ignorance. So I dismissed my fiery young theologian with the gently-sighed remark of the old colored woman, under similar circumstances—"Poor creetur! De Lawd aint teacht him yet." This, with a fervent prayer that he might be willing to be taught, and we came away from the scene of castigation. We shall, probably, not go back unless he pays us another visit; which is not likely, as he has gone over the whole ground, and has nothing more to learn. He thinks our sweet gospel the "galvanized corpse" of quite a number of old, dead, exploded heresies, and its "plausible antics" only the "grotesque motions" of the aforesaid corpse under the "battery" of an unbridled fancy, and a passion for novelties. That is the way youth generally sums up age. I have long thought the old proverb ought to be reversed. It runs: "Young people think old ones fools; but old ones know that young ones are." I don't think that is fair to our old fogies; for, nowadays, at least, the assurance is all on the juvenile side. Perhaps the "saw" is a very old one, true when first circulated, by now out of date. We are a fast generation and may have out-trotted some of these antiquated wisdoms.

The Methodist minister is away at Conference. Let us give him the "benefit of clergy" and hope he would have been less severe, had he been here. There is a small Christian church here, besides the Methodist and Presbyterian. The Roman Catholics are in the ascendancy in Franklin county. On the whole, I think our gospel is as badly needed here as in any place I have struck for a long time. We find here, as elsewhere, that fringe of hungry souls, that refuse to go to church because their burning questions are never answered by the preachers, who don't want to drift into unbelief, but can't well help it, as orthodox doctrine goes; and who look one through and through, as a door of hope seems to be opened in G. I. L. A. N. E. How well I know that famished look; and that gleam of returning hope, too, thank God!

Our eyes were gladdened last Saturday by the sight of four friends from the city. Bro. Will Ferguson and Sister May; and Bros. Lay and Savage all put in an appearance, in company with our dear doctor, who was returning from a visit to a cancer patient in Athens, O., whither he had been summoned for consultation by telegraph. Frank went back in the afternoon, as there are no Sunday trains to or from Brookville, and he had to be in the city Monday morning. The rest remained over Sabbath, to our great joy.

I forgot in my Dayton letter to tell you of a very unexpected meeting with no less a person than C. P. Carty—who followed me almost round the world, with a perseverance worthy of a better cause, to deliver a message that he thought was from the Lord. I don't think it was; for I knew it before I saw him, and, judged, by its fruits, that it was not the good thing he thought it to be. How he followed as far as India; and how we refused to receive him, are written in the "book of the Chronicles" of our journeyings.

Well! I met him on the "tram," crossing the Newport and Cincinnati bridge, and had an amicable chat with him. He attended several of our meetings and is well known to many of our Newport friends, having held meetings there in years past. He is still, like us, "on the road," preaching his views, as we preach ours. This is a free country, and "every man must give an account of himself to God." So it goes. Bro. Carty's doctrine is two-fold.

1. He teaches the sinfulness of those who believe as he does.

2. As a logical consequence that those thus believing do not die—since death is the "wages of sin."

I am bold to say that I turn away, at once, with my present light, from any one professing to be without sin.

The Scripture declares that all who say that "deceive themselves." They can't deceive God. They can't deceive the devil. They don't deceive their neighbors very long at a time. They only deceive themselves, the poorest employment on earth. This is not, I aver, the teaching of the Bible as to true holiness; but man's impossible travesty of it. The dear Lord counts a man holy before he is sinless; "pure in heart" before he is pure in life; "perfect" while yet imperfect. Just as Paul claimed to be "perfect," on God's standard, before he was perfect on his own. No other meaning can attach to the paradox of Philipians 3:12-15.

Admit Bro. Carty's theory of holiness, and the not dying might, in one sense, follow as a corollary to the proposition. Even then it would be difficult to explain why Jesus died for others and commands us also to be ready to die the same. I thoroughly believe that the Christian, who unflinchingly trusts the Lord, need never die of these hideous and painful diseases, of which the majority of mankind perish. I believe that faith can save these off in large measure as we pass through the devil's territory, and when we leave it. But that he will collect his toll-gate fee, of death, in some shape or other, till Jesus comes, I am sure. The advent of the LORD signifies the stoppage of this. The first sign that the world is about to change rulers is this marvellous spectacle of a generation passing to Heaven without dying. This has never been witnessed before, save in two isolated cases—Enoch and Elijah—and they will, in the end, not prove exceptions, if they be the "two witnesses" of Rev. 11:3-12, as I believe they are.

"Dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return" is what the common speech of man, as well as the Bible, refer to as the body's death. This is not cancelled till Jesus comes; any more than the curse of "thorns and briers;" and suffering in child-birth. These three evils, the Lord declared in Eden, were ineradicable, till the "restitution of all things spoken of by the holy prophets," from beginning to end. To antedate this expiration, is to do violence to Scripture, however amiable the motive may be. It "cannot be broken" thus. We have "exceeding great and precious promises" given us with a lavish hand. Let us not manufacture impossible pledges and put them in the mouth of God. This is the base of the man-made "holiness;" as well as of the man-made "immortality."

The very man, who furnished Bro. Carty money to follow me to London, died soon after; though thoroughly accepting the delusive theory. And I think his system, based on this unscriptural foundation, is a "delusion and a snare," that only turns us away from what we may attain, to follow a "will o' the wisp" that lures us on to seek the unattainable.

Thousands miss scriptural "sanctification" by seeking an unscriptural state. So, I was bound to reject Bro. Carty and his doctrine; while I do not doubt his sincerity in the least; and even have a genuine admiration for his pluck and perseverance in following conscience over a rather thorny and difficult road, as I know his has been. The "rough road," if it stood alone, would be a strong proof that he is right. But it is not an infallible test of right and wrong—as Scripture is.

The dear saints in London, who went after Bro. Carty, thinking he had a "good thing," have gone still further astray, I am sorry to record. Most of them have followed off a Bro. Fricke, who seems to be a sort of English Schenckel, with claims not unlike those of the Rockford, Illinois Messiah, after whom some of my dear friends in Richmond, Ky., have gone, I am sorry to say. It is all very, very pitiable. Only the more need to cry out, "Come Lord Jesus, come quickly," and put a stop to these false Christs, who are crying "Lo, here! Lo, there!"

Only, dear Lord, meanwhile let us not "go out after them," but abide with Thee, and refuse to be beguiled by any of these human counterfeiters.

Bro. Carty didn't attempt to deliver his message to me. Perhaps he thought it useless. I had frankly told him before he sailed for India it would be. He persisted in going, but he never delivered his "message." I hope he has given me up. Our lines of life and teaching are hopelessly at variance; and each must travel on, to the revelation of all things, on the road he thinks he is called to travel. If Bro. Carty is right, I am awfully wrong. And vice versa.

The weather is glorious. The autumn-tinted woods are beginning to glow with their annual glory. The birds are "gathering flockwise" for their fall flitting to warmer climes; and yesterday I noticed in my walk how anxiously the hairy worms, we boys used to call "fever worms," are hurrying here and there, as if admonished that the "time is short," and a "cold snap" may find them unprovided with winter quarters. Poor little beggars! their ways are quite worth observing. Yesterday, walking the railroad track, I watched them, wriggling along in their nervous, hunted fashion, as if some enemy were in hot pursuit and they were fleeing for dear life. They were of diverse colors; bright yellow, black, rusty brown, yellowish green and one parti-colored specimen had his body yellow, with head and tail tipped with jet black. They seem to be incapable of distant sight; for two, under full head of steam, coming from opposite directions, would collide, as if each were in ignorance of the other's proximity. Then the smaller would scurry off at right angles, in mad flight, apparently, and make quite a detour before striking his old course. Touch one with the point of your cane, gently, and he would "hurry up" like a racer pricked with spur or lashed with whip. Touch him again and he would curl up and lie motionless, as if to say, "I'm dead; perfectly lifeless; see for yourself; roll me over; life is quite extinct; don't trouble to kill me any more than I am; travel on, I beseech you, and leave me to my fate." Then, he would still a few moments, and this little game would cease; the febrile-vernicle would straighten out and show himself very much alive indeed, by resuming his journey at a rattling pace, for a worm. I wonder what they would think when the morning express, just due, should thunder over their little heads, with its earthquake rumble! And each of these small, anxious crawlers has its wee history, as full of adventure in its way as ours. What hair-breadth escapes, what joys and sorrows; what vicissitudes of worm life they could tell of, could we only listen to their "wondrous tales!" And there would be naught of sin in the little narrative; which, possibly, might be a slight relief to us, who know so much of Fidelity Banks and corners in wheat, and lesser rascalities that fill our august dailies with such edifying reading.

I am thoroughly glad the dear Lord sent us to Brookville. There has been no "boom" about this meeting; but a steady attendance of the same regular audience, all seemingly intent on knowing the Truth. And I know that there has been "lots" of good done. That is my "100-fold here." To show a light to those sitting in the "region and shadow of death," is "Heaven below."

Our next point (D. V.) is Williams-town, Grant county, 30 miles south of Cincinnati, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad.

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—During the winter the W. C. T. U. will meet at the houses of the different members. It meets at Miss Alice Ward's this week.

—On Wednesday night, 17th, there will be an oyster supper given at the corner hotel building, under the management of the Good Templars. All the neighboring lodges are cordially invited to be present.

—Miss Maggie Newland's many friends here are deeply grieved to hear of her illness and sincerely wish that she may speedily recover.

—Mrs. Mat Fish and family left this week for Pineville. Miss Mollie Cook has been quite sick. Mrs. Sue Holmes' many warm friends are very much gratified because she has again been granted the keeping of the poor-house. Miss Annie Singleton has a new piano. Mrs. Jane Farris is visiting her daughters in Louisville. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones and son visited Cincinnati last week. Mr. G. W. Evans is in Minnesota disposing of land he owns there. Mrs. Wheeler, of Paint Lick, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Sam Ward. Mr. J. F. Holdam has gone to Florida on business. Mrs. D. B. Edmiston has been visiting her father in Garrard. Mr. Jake Parrish, of Pineville, paid a flying visit to C. O. and lady friends. Misses Alice and Rebecca Stuart visited Stanford friends last week. Miss Sallie Alcorn, of McKinney, was a guest of the Misses Hardin several days. Mr. Henry Donnelly, of Missoni, has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. M. Gormley. Last week a gay party from here went on a successful chestnut hunt.

The B. M. at Kingsville and Waynesburg.

I know of nothing more enjoyable than a few days' stay with the clever people whom the Waynesburg and Kingsville neighborhood would be justly pardonable in boasting of, should they care to do so, and when that august tribunal—the head of the firm—informs me that I am expected to get out and do a little "hustling," none of the circuits I make come to my mind oftener than that which embraces the above two places. Not thinking of pleasure alone, I am reminded that it is as remunerative a trip as it is an enjoyable one, and that, strange to say, increases my liking not only for the trip, but for that part of the county. I like to visit this vicinity, too, because a freeness seems to come over me as soon as I set foot on the soil. I don't feel like I am intruding when I take an hour or so of some substantial citizen's valuable time, telling him of the merits of the INTERIOR JOURNAL. I like it also because the substantial citizen does not turn from me when I have completed my little speech, but instead invites me very cordially to spend the night with him, and before I have shaken his hand good-bye two shining shekels are produced from his "inside pocket" as he bids me send him the I. J. for a year. Another reason for my fascination for this section is because the married ladies are peculiarly kind and expose no frowns when the lone I. J. man rides up just as dinner is ready and is invited by the head of the family to participate in the pleasant duty they are about to engage. Nor do the young ladies and girls look otherwise than pleasing, although they have been put to extra trouble and inconvenience by the untimely appearance (to them) of the intruding newspaper drummer. This community is blessed in a number of other ways, but I know of no greater blessings even Paradise could claim than these I have mentioned and a trip similar to the one I have just returned from would be convincing to even the most stubborn that Kingsville and Waynesburg, although a little in the backwoods, are towns not to be sneezed at by any place.

No vast changes have come about since I last wrote from this portion of our county, but it is plainly visible that both Kingsville and Waynesburg are flourishing. The merchants told me they were doing well and that their trade this year will exceed greatly that of last. Five good stores at Kingsville and three at Waynesburg do an immense business and their proprietors are steadily growing wealthy.

It is surprising to see how much lumber is shipped from these points. Cross ties by the 25 and 50 car-load lots frequently leave either of these places, one of 25 leaving while I was at Kingsville. This of course brings money into the county, a benefit derived by the people here that Stanford and other blue-grass towns do not receive.

Politics are at white-heat and although there are no clubs at either of these two points, I know of no better organized section than this. W. L. McCarty and J. H. Watts informed me that there would scarcely be a republican vote in their neighborhoods and the prohibitionists would poll an exceedingly small vote. These gentlemen know what they are talking about and are willing to back their judgment on their part of the county going almost as a unit for Cleveland, Thurman and McCarty. God grant that she may.

Syrup of Figs

Is Nature's own true laxative. It is the most easily taken, and the most effective remedy known to Cleanse the System when Bilious or Costive; to dispel Headaches, Colds, and Fevers; to Cure Habitual Constipation, Indigestion, Piles, etc. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal. For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford.

At Walton's Opera House, STANFORD, KY.

Saturday Evening, Oct. 13.

AL. G. FIELD & CO.'S Operatic Minstrels, BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER.

FASHION'S FAVORITES

An Entire New Company, New Acts, Original Ideas, Novel Features, Catchy Music, Handsome Costumes, Superb Singing, A Dancing Tournament

—THE— Mammoth Military Encampment First Part (Copyrighted.)

The Two Drummers, or The Hotel at the Junction. The Burlesque Japanese Students, The Policeman's Parade, and one hundred other new ideas.

The Greatest, Grandest Combination Of Musical Celebrities, Comedians, and Dancers Specialists Entert. LOUISKERR'S

55,000 CHALLENGE MILITARY BAND. Musical Concert and Grand Parade.

A CARD.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT !!

TO THE PEOPLE OF LINCOLN

I have learned that there are rumors out that I don't intend to leave and sell out, but only advertise as a scheme to sell, more goods.

While the latter is true so far as selling is concerned, the former is not so. I say emphatically here again that unless something unavoidable should happen, I

WILL LEAVE STANFORD

in spite of all rumors to the contrary.

My goods will and must be sold as I don't intend to move any stock.

Every article will be sold regardless of cost, price or profit.

Cash I must have no matter what my loss may be.

Clothing, Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes Hats, all share the same fate, nothing reserved.

If this is no chance

To Buy Goods for a Mere Song,

then there is no other argument necessary.

Please be on hand as early in the morning as possible to avoid the rush

SPECIAL CUT IN OVERCOATS AND LADIES' CLOAKS.

Fifty cents on the Dollar will buy them and some will be offered at 33 1-3 cents on the Dollar.

D.K.LASS.

Opp. Myers House, Stanford.

QUEEN AND CRESCENT ROUTE.

(Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway.)

FAVORITE LINE BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH.

LIMITED EXPRESS TRAINS BETWEEN CINCINNATI, OHIO AND NEW ORLEANS, LA.

—IN 24 HOURS—

Through Cars to New Orleans, Louisiana and Florida Twice Daily

THE SOUTHERN ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA.

THE TEXAS SHORT LINE.

CONDENSED TIME TABLE EFFECT IN SEP. 16, 1888.

READ DOWN.				READ UP.
TRAINS SOUTH.				TRAINS NORTH.
No. 7.	No. 3.	No. 5.	No. 1.	STATIONS.		No. 6.	No. 4.	No. 8.
Daily.	Ex. Sun.	Daily.	Daily.			Daily.	Daily.	Daily.
8 17 a m	4 03 p m	8 00 p m	7 55 a m	L'v. Cincinnati	Ar'v	6 40 a m	6 42 p m	10 05 a m
9 53 a m	5 47 p m	9 35 p m	9 13 a m	Williamstown	Ar'v	8 13 a m	8 15 p m	11 30 a m
10 59 a m	7 08 p m	10 37 p m	10 15 a m	Georgetown	Ar'v	9 18 a m	9 20 p m	12 30 a m
11 30 p m	7 35 p m	11 05 p m	10 25 a m	Lexington	Ar'v	10 10 a m	10 12 p m	1 00 p m
4 40 p m	8 10 p m	7 10 a m	7 10 a m	Ar'v	Ar'v	10 40 a m	10 42 p m	2 00 p m
8 37 p m	11 48 a m	10 50 a m	10 50 a m	Ar'v	Ar'v	11 00 a m	11 02 p m	3 00 p m
12 30 p m	8 45 p m	12 08 a m	11 17 a m	Live. Burghin	Ar'v	12 00 a m	12 02 p m	4 00 a m
1 15 p m	9 10 p m	12 30 a m	11 45 a m	Dan. Williams	Ar'v	1 00 p m	1 02 p m	5 00 p m
3 00 p m	9 40 p m	1 05 a m	1 00 p m	Richmond City	Ar'v	2 00 p m	2 02 p m	6 00 p m
6 50 p m	10 55 a m	2 05 a m	2 00 p m	Somerset	Ar'v	3 00 p m	3 02 p m	7 00 p m
9 30 p m	11 25 a m	3 05 a m	3 00 p m	Ar'v	Ar'v	4 00 p m	4 02 p m	8 00 p m
10 30 p m	11 55 a m	4 05 a m	4 00 p m	Chattanooga	Ar'v	5 00 p m	5 02 p m	9 00 a m
12 00 p m	12 25 p m	5 05 a m	5 00 p m	Live. Chattanooga	Ar'v	6 00 p m	6 02 p m	10 00 a m
1 00 p m	1 30 p m	6 05 a m	6 00 p m	Atlanta	Ar'v	7 00 p m	7 02 p m	11 00 a m
2 00 p m	2 30 p m	7 05 a m	7 00 p m	Ar'v	Ar'v	8 00 p m	8 02 p m	12 00 a m
3 00 p m	3 30 p m	8 05 a m	8 00 p m	Birmingham	Ar'v	9 00 p m	9 02 p m	1 00 p m
4 00 p m	4 30 p m	9 05 a m	9 00 p m	Tusculoo	Ar'v	10 00 p m	10 02 p m	2 00 p m
5 00 p m	5 30 p m	10 05 a m	10 00 p m	Ar'v	Ar'v	11 00 p m	11 02 p m	3 00 p m
6 00 p m	6 30 p m	11 05 a m	11 00 p m	Meridian	Ar'v	12 00 p m	12 02 p m	4 00 p m
7 00 p m	7 30 p m	12 05 p m	12 00 p m	Ar'v	Ar'v	1 00 a m	1 02 a m	5 00 a m
8 00 p m	8 30 p m	1 05 a m	1 00 p m	New Orleans	Ar'v	2 00 a m	2 02 a m	6 00 a m
9 00 p m	9 30 p m	2 05 a m	2 00 p m	Meridian	Ar'v	3 00 a m	3 02 a m	7 00 a m
10 00 p m	10 30 p m	3 05 a m	3 00 p m	Ar'v	Ar'v	4 00 a m	4 02 a m	8 00 a m
11 00 p m	11 30 p m	4 05 a m	4 00 p m	Vicksburg	Ar'v	5 00 a m	5 02 a m	9 00 a m
12 00 p m	12 30 p m	5 05 a m	5 00 p m	Monroe	Ar'v	6 00 a m	6 02 a m	10 00 a m
1 00 a m	1 30 a m	6 05 a m	6 00 p m	Shreveport	Ar'v	7 00 a m	7 02 a m	11 00 a m

Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alternative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more

Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. T. E. Wiley, of Ferdinand, Ind., recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. It did not relieve it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared, and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

COMPLEXION
DR. HEBBARD'S
VIOLA CREAM

THIS preparation, without injury, removes Freckles, Liver-Spots, Pimples, Black-Heads, Sunburn and Tan. A few applications will render the most stubborn red skin soft, smooth and white. Viola Cream is not a paint or powder to cover defects, but a remedy to cure. It is superior to all other preparations, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction. At druggists or mailed for 50 cents. Prepared by G. C. BITTNER & CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

MONON ROUTE
LOUISVILLE NEW ALBANY & CHICAGO RY. CO.

A NEW FAST MAIL

Leaving Both—

LOUISVILLE & CINCINNATI

Daily, Secures to Travelers—

THE MOST RAPID ROUTE

Ever attempted between the great commercial cities on the Ohio River and Chicago, and hence the fastest time and most comfortable trains between all points in the South, or to the West and Northwest. The counterpart of this train on all north lines is designated The Limited Express. The superb rolling stock we employ gives patron Uninterrupted Comfort.

At all Coupon Ticket Offices in the South you will find our time-tables and tickets. Say "Go, get Monon and stick to Monon, if you want to save money and have a pleasant journey." E. C. O'CONNOR, 222 1/2 Ave., Louisville, Ky. E. C. O'CONNOR, 222 1/2 Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Chesapeake &amp; Ohio!

PULLMAN CARS AND SOLID TRAINS.

EAST

To Washington, Richmond and Old Point Comfort.

WEST

To Louisville and Cincinnati.

Connections direct for all points in the

WEST NORTH - WEST AND SOUTH-WEST.

IN EFFECT NOV. 15, 1888.

No. 1	No. 2	No. 3	No. 4	No. 5	No. 6
Daily	Daily	Daily	Daily	Daily	Daily
Lexington	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
White Sulphur Springs	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Charlottesville V.M. Junction	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Richmond	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Newport News	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Old Point Comfort	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Norfolk	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Washington	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Baltimore	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
Philadelphia	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.
New York	7:00 p.m.	6:30 a.m.	10:35 p.m.	11:50 a.m.	10:35 p.m.

Lexington Division Trains run by Central time. Main Line Trains east of Lexington run by Eastern time, which is one hour faster than Central time.

ADDITIONAL TRAINS.—No. 11, daily except Sunday, leave Olive Hill 4:45 a.m.; Mt. Sterling 7:00 a.m.; arrive Lexington 8:35 a.m.; arrive at Cincinnati via Winchester 11:35 a.m.

No. 12, daily except Sunday, leave Cincinnati 2:00 p.m.; Lexington 3:35 p.m.; arrive Mt. Sterling 7:15 p.m.; Olive Hill 9:45 p.m.

No. 5, daily, leave Clifton Forge at 7:00 a.m.; Charleston 12:30 p.m.; arrive Ashland at 4:00 p.m.; Columbus 11:47 p.m.

No. 6, daily, leave Ashland 7:10 a.m.; arrive at Charleston 11:22 a.m.; Clifton Forge 7:35 p.m.

Pullman Sleeping Cars on all through trains. Old Dominion steamships leave Norfolk on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday at 6:30 p.m. for New York.

For Tickets, Rates, Information, etc., apply to local office or address: W. C. WICKHAM, H. W. FULLER, Receiver, Gen'l Pass. Ag.

WHERE IS ANNA DICKINSON?

A Termagant in Indiana Falsely Personating That Refused Lady.

The many admirers of Anna Dickinson in the east have been astonished, and occasionally horrified, by published reports of speeches in Indiana in which that lady is charged with language dangerously near vulgarity and profanity. As the first reports were in Democratic and independent papers, they were promptly denounced as "campaign lies," but now come the Republican papers with reports, much milder it is true, but containing such expressions as "Buffalo hangman," "filthy tool," "dirty wretch," "vile emissary of damnable treason," etc.

There is not a line in any of the speeches that reads the least bit like the former productions of the refined and scholarly Anna. One explanation offered is that the real Anna Dickinson was murdered on the way and her belongings stolen by a notorious adventuress who resembles her in person, a sort of western Ann O'Della Doss Debar, who is trying to personate the real lady. Keeping this explanation in mind the reader may be able to bear the following extracts from her Indianapolis address. They were published in the Republican Journal of that city, which of course expurgated the worst parts of the speech; so what we have is only the most decent residuum. The woman personating Anna Dickinson began thus: "We have had the issue marked out and the battle formed for us by the president of the United States, or the hangman of Buffalo. [Applause.] The sole issue on which the fight is to be made and his party have proclaimed shall be the tariff. There is no other issue in this contest save that of tariff, so says this tool of aristocracy, ignorance and stupid domination. Whatsoever matter has been involved touching not only the health, the good, the right, but the very life of the republic in the last twenty-five years, this day the rebels of the south, unrepentant and unrepentant, through the mouth of their filthy tool at the north, announce the sole issue which the old soldiers and free men and their sons are to decide on the 6th of next November. We assert it and you are to accept it. We proclaim [Applause.] So be it. We are strong enough to take up any gauntlet of battle thrown down, let it be by the devil in hell or his present emissary in power in this land." [Great applause.]

Six sentences and seven vulgar epithets! Abuse of the president of these United States far worse than any the Republicans called "treason" in 1860-70. But as the police did not interfere, and the audience seemed to like it, the woman went on giving this startling bit of history: "The man who founded this republic believed in the principles of justice for all men. Washington never owned a slave, though they have belied his memory by the other assertion."

Then followed a sketch of the acquisition of Louisiana, Texas, etc., which is too crazy to be printed—sounds like it came straight from bedlam—when a cannon was fired in the street, and she ran out, crying, "Is that a Democratic cannon? [A voice, "Yes."] Well, all the noise of hell cannot silence the voice of liberty and truth. [Tremendous applause.] * * * The soil that the Union stole—for it amounted to that—from Mexico at this demand of the slave power is the soil over which we have the contention today of the Chinaman, on one hand, and the damnable curse of Mormonism on the other. And it serves us right. [A voice, "We used to talk in the old times about the north and the south, and we talk about the north and the south today. Some people innocently imagine that the phrase means a geographical section, one side or the other. It means to day what it has meant for a century. * * * What does the south mean? It means three hundred and fifty to four hundred thousand ardent slaveholders—those who dominated generation after generation, until finally in 1860 they brought the national government in the United States to its infancy in the face of the whole world. * * * I do not believe that even in these days the labor of the north fairly understood the issue at stake; but this time, at least, is true, that you in Indiana, and over in Illinois, and beyond in Iowa, in the great basin west, dissatisfied, understood that the Mississippi was yours and by the God of Justice, said the west, 'what belongs to us we will keep, in spite of Jefferson Davis, the south, and the devil.' [Applause.]

Judging from her frequent references to him the woman seems to be a monomaniac on the subject of the devil. Her next declaration was that the war was to be fought again, but that language leaves it uncertain whether she meant with guns or ballots. Here is one passage: "The people knew that the fight was simply part and parcel of the fight of five and seventy years, and might last for seventy-five years more, and in the heat and flame of that strife they stood ready to say, 'So be it, let us fight for seventy-five years.' It is twenty years only. Don't let the rifle grow dim; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A cannon and applause.] Again it sounds as if she meant to let the cartridge box rust; stand to your guns, knowing the same fight is to be settled on the 6th of November. It is not downed yet. [Applause.] These few slaveholders of the south dominate not simply the south, not merely a section, but the whole country through the plant and subtle service of this dirty tool, the friend of the laboring man today as he was then. [A

Constipation

Demand prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable liver and after-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—Dr. J. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hess, Leithville, Pa.

"For several years Ayer's Pills have been used in my family. We find them an

Effective Remedy

for constipation and indigestion, and are never without them in the house."—Moses Greener, Lowell, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for liver troubles and indigestion, during many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action."—L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills effected a complete cure."—D. Burke, Saco, Me.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."—James Quinn, 10 Middle St., Hartford, Conn.

"Having been troubled with constipation, which seems inevitable with persons of sedentary habits, I have tried Ayer's Pills, having heard of their value, and am glad to say that they have served me better than any other medicine. I arrive at this conclusion only after a faithful trial of their merits."—Samuel T. Jones, Oak St., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Dealers in Medicine.

THAT FIGHT

The Original Wins.

C. F. Simmons, St. Louis, Prop'r M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, Est'd 1850, in the U. S. Court District J. H. Zeilin, Prop'r A. Q. Simmons Liver Medicine, Est'd by Zeilin 1865. M. A. S. L. M. has for 47 years cured INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS, DYSPEPSIA, SICK HEADACHE, LOSS OF APPETITE, SORE STOMACH, ETC. Rev. T. B. Reams, Pastor M. E. Church, Adams, Tenn., writes: "I think I should have been dead but for your Genuine M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine. I have sometimes had to substitute 'Zeilin's stuff' for your medicine, but it doesn't answer the purpose." Dr. J. R. Graves, Editor The Baptist, Memphis, Tenn., says: "I received a package of your Liver Medicine, and have used half of it. It works like a charm. I want no better Liver Regulator and certainly no more of Zeilin's mixture."

finished. Mark had a steady hand, and a decided talent for drawing, so that the result was in most cases a fairly good likeness.

The boys thought it wonderful, and one after another paid their twopenies. Then some of the older people came, so that Mark was quite busy.

At last the boys were finished, all but two, Caleb Arrowsmith and Jack Bridgeman. Caleb had waited, because he did not mean to have his portrait taken; he had no money to pay for it. He was a lazy boy, and never earned a farthing. He did not like work; in fact, he did not like any thing, except perhaps his dog, a pretty little terrier, and to that he was very much attached.

As he sat watching Mark while he carefully drew the outline of Jack's shadow, Caleb was thinking, although he could not have his own portrait drawn, how much he would like to have the dog's.

"Now then, Caleb, you are the last," said Jack.

"I don't care about it, thank you," said Caleb.

"Don't—fiddlestick!" said Jack. "Haven't you any money?"

Caleb colored, and calling to his dog, turned away.

"I'll do it, just for practice, if you like," said Mark, kindly.

"I don't want it," said Caleb, crossly. "I don't care a bit about it."

Mark had been very successful, and he had already earned sufficient money to pay for the window, therefore he was in capital spirits, and not in the humor to quarrel with any one.

"Very well," he said, "if you don't like it, you needn't have it done. Shall I do the dog instead?"

Caleb's face flushed with pleasure; it was very evident how much he would like that. Mark saw that he was pleased, at once set to work, and sent Caleb away happy.

As he was going home with Jack he said curiously:

"Why does Mark want the money? I wonder what it is for."

"For the window, of course," said Jack. "Don't you know he promised Dame Crumpleton to pay for it? I don't believe he broke it either," he added, after a minute.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

THE BROKEN WINDOW.

How It Was Broken and Who Paid for It.

CRASH! smash! There was a noise of glass breaking; then silence, then the sound of boys' voices, of boys' feet running down the lane, and next a startled cry. Then old Dame Crumpleton, who lived in a cottage close by, came hobbling out of the underwood, holding a boy fast by the collar of his coat.

"That's the second window you boys have broken; but this time I've caught you," she grumbled. "It was indeed fortunate that I came home just then. You thought you were running away from an old woman, did you? But you made a mistake, you ran right into her instead."

She spoke as she reached the cottage door, lifted the latch and marched the boy into the room.

"Now, Mark Huffman, I shall put an end to the anonymous letters from you boys by making an example of you," she said.

"You will stay here until I go first to your mother and then to the Squire. It is a great shame you boys do not know how to behave."

Directly she mentioned his mother Mark found his tongue.

"I don't know, but wait a minute," said Mark. "I don't break your window, grannie; I assure you I didn't."

"You were throwing stones," interrupted the old lady.

"But I did not throw at your window," said Mark.

"Well, someone did, and you are the one caught. How will you prove it was not your stone?" asked the old lady, as she prepared to go out again.

"I don't know, but wait a minute," said Mark. "Don't go to my mother; she's very ill indeed, and the worry will make her worse."

"I can't help that," said the old lady. "Look at my window!"

"Will you be content if I pay for your window?" asked Mark, feeling that any thing would be better than making a fuss and worry for his mother, and resolving in his own mind to find out for himself which boy it was who threw the stone that had done the mischief, and to make him pay for it.

The old lady hesitated, and at first would not hear of it; but Mark pleaded, and finally it was agreed that if he brought three shillings before the week was over nothing more should be said about it.

Mark, at last released, walked away, feeling very worried. His mother would not be troubled, but the question was, where should he get the three shillings?

As soon as he could, he asked all the boys if they knew whose stone had broken the window; but as each one denied it, Mark plainly saw that he would have to find the three shillings somehow.

One morning a day or two afterwards the boys on their way to school were astonished to see a big notice outside the blacksmith's door. This notice had been put up by Mark, whose father was the village smith, and this is how it read:

"PORTRAITS TAKEN EVERY EVENING FROM SEVEN TO NINE, PRICE 20. EACH."

The same evening when seven o'clock came there was quite a crowd round the smithy door; for every one was curious to see what it meant, and who was the artist that was going to take the photographs.

Mark admitted six boys, and at once set to work.

He fastened a large sheet of paper on the door, put a strong light in front of it, and then placed a boy between the light and the door, so that the shadow of his side face was thrown on the paper.

Then Mark carefully drew over the outline with black chalk, put in a little shading, touched it up when the paper was taken from the door, and the portrait was finished.

The artist at work.

MAHOGANY.

Its Value as a Finishing Wood for Work, Nice Details and Elegant Finish.

As is known to every woodworker, mahogany has no equal for durability, brilliancy and intrinsic value for any work which requires nicety of detail and elegance of finish. Cherry, which is a pretty wood for effect and extremely pleasing when first finished, soon grows dull and grimy-looking. Oak, which has been so much used of late, is attractive when first finished, but experience teaches that it does not take many months to change all this, and instead of a light, fresh-looking interior, one that has a dusty appearance is presented, which no amount of scraping and refinishing will restore to its original beauty. What applies to oak is yet more applicable to ash.

Mahogany, however, seems to thrive best under the conditions which are detrimental to these other woods. At first of a light tone, it grows deeper and more beautiful in color with age, and although its first cost is more than these other woods, yet its price is much less than is popularly supposed, and the only objection urged against it has been cost. What is more valuable, however, and what makes mahogany in reality a less costly wood, is the fact that, unlike cherry, oak or ash, it is easily cleaned, because it is impervious to dust or dirt, while it does not show wear, and instead of growing duller, grows brighter and more pleasing in appearance. While first cost is more than that of cherry, oak or ash, it is nevertheless true that the judgment of many men has led them to regard mahogany as the cheaper wood when its durability and clean qualities are considered, and to-day it takes front rank as first-class material.—The Builder & a Woodworker.

Silver Alloys.

Pure silver is a metal of only an inferior degree of hardness, in consequence of which silvers were manufactured from the pure metal would be subject to rapid wear, and for this reason it is generally alloyed, except for articles for the chemical laboratory. Silver used, is the fact that, alloyed with copper, besides this it is also alloyed with gold and aluminum. Alloys containing silver and nickel, or silver, nickel and zinc, are much employed in the manufacture of tableware and articles of luxury, which, while being of a handsome white color, are much cheaper than those from silver and copper, which was formerly much used in the manufacture of silverware.

Snake-Bite and Yellow Fever.

Dr. Urias da Silveira has sent to the Medical-Chirurgical Society of Rio de Janeiro a quantity of a vegetable substance which is very common in the provinces—Minas Geraes and Barra Mansa—and which, he says, he has used with great advantage in the bites of cobras, especially during the period in which the most serious symptoms—hemorrhages and ataxo-dynamic phenomena—appeared. He points out analogies between the effects of snake-bite and of yellow fever, both of a symptomatic and pathological nature, and suggests that the drug he sent should be tried in cases of yellow fever.

Soak one or more newspapers, knead them into a pulp, then dip the pulp into a suitable solution of oxalic acid. While wet force the pulp into any crevice or hole made by mice or rats. Result: a disgusted retreat with sore snouts and feet on the part of the would-be intruders.

IN-DOORS AND OUT.

WOMEN IN THE OPEN AIR.

The Latest Fad Among the Belles of Chicago is to Go Hunting Like Men—A Natty Costume for Road Use—Where Ladies from the Garden City Seek Game—A Rabbit's Escape—Diana's New Acquaintance.

Women are certainly emancipated in the matter of outdoor exercise, says the Chicago News. There is absolutely no open air amusement or pursuit in which the American girl does not participate. She is mistress of the tennis field, she can row a boat and feather her oars. She rides, she drives, and lately she has invaded the hunting grounds.

The most fashionable women, who have all summer sojourned by the seaside, do not return to the city as soon as the water is too cold for the delectable bathing dresses and open-work stockings. They linger in some pretty mountain resort, or they visit one another's country homes. It is so delightful to stay out of town "when the leaves begin to turn."

When the cool breezes of autumn blow with exhilarating freshness, belies their riding habits and think nothing of a fifteen-mile canter. The latest habits, by the way, have no essentially new or odd features. They are exceedingly plain, but their fit is above reproach. All habits must be tailor-made, and they cost about one hundred dollars. There is much extravagance in saddles and bridles. The finest saddles are made of the skin of that thing but esthetic animal, the pig. Pig skin saddles do not soil easily, and are susceptible to the cleaning effects of soap and water. They are therefore more popular than the stitched and comfortable-looking buckskin saddles.

The dogcart has its season of popularity in autumn, when the exertion of driving is no longer tiresome to women who can afford special costumes for such occasions. The dog cart costume is dashing and becoming, and a director's coat is provided to wear with it. A bewitching toque of the same materials as the dress accompanies it, and suede gloves incase the hands. A great latitude in colors is allowable, and most striking combinations are stylish. A Michigan avenue belle wears a white cloth gown.

cap, and a pair of flashing eyes met his. The young lady's attitude was commanding, although her plain skirt was gathered up over one arm, thus disclosing the high-topped boots and about twelve inches of the corduroy garment above them. As her indignation subsided the fair Diana dropped her skirt and her gun simultaneously. After the stranger had dodged in the fear of being accidentally shot, and when the huntress had recovered from her blushes, a pleasant acquaintance was made, much to the advantage of the escaping rabbit.

ABOUT GRAPES.

How to Keep Them in Winter—By Proper Treatment You Can Have Fresh Grapes as Late as February.

The cultivation of out-door grapes for domestic use has become, says a writer in the American Agriculturist, so general that the subject of keeping them for winter use, and the best method, may profitably claim attention. The past season I selected from over one hundred varieties in my grounds forty of those in general cultivation and a few very recent introductions to test their keeping qualities. It is the generally received opinion that the thick-skinned native seedlings are the only keepers. This is correct so far as regards preserving flavor, but several hybrids of foreign blood are the best keepers known. The varieties intended to be laid up for winter use should be those only which adhere well to the stem and are not inclined to shrivel soon after removal from the vine. They should be allowed to remain on the vine as long as they are safe from frost; a clear, dry day is necessary for picking; careful handling and shallow baskets are important. The room in which they are to be kept for awhile should be well ventilated and the fruit laid out in single layers on tables or in baskets where the air freely circulates, closing the windows at night and in damp weather.

In about ten days the stems will be dried out sufficiently to prevent moulding after they are laid away. When danger from this is over, and the stems resemble those of raisins, the time for packing has arrived. I have used baskets for permanent packing, but much prefer shallow trays or boxes of uniform size to be placed one above the other so that each box covers the one below, the uppermost only needing a cover. Until very cold weather the boxes can be piled so as to allow the remaining moisture to escape through a crevice about the width of a knife-blade. Before packing, each bunch should be examined, and all injured, cracked and rotten berries removed with suitable scissors. If two layers are packed in a box, a sheet of paper should intervene; the boxes must be kept in a dry, cool room, or passage, at an even temperature. If the thermometer goes much below freezing point a blanket or newspaper can be thrown over them to be removed in mild weather. Looking them over once in the winter and removing defective berries will suffice, the poorest keepers being placed accessible. Under this treatment the best keepers will be in good eatable order as late as February, after which they deteriorate.

SOME POINTS ON STYLES.

Yokes and cuffs of gold passementerie appear among the new trimmings, and are to be worn upon a great variety of dresses.

The belt especially favored by ladies just now is a broad band of satin-finished silver, with asthetic figures neatly etched upon it.

Mitts of real lace are new, and are favored for evening wear. They may be procured in black, white or pale tints which match the dress.

More ribbon arranged in rows is taking the place of lace as a garniture for costumes of cream or snow white albatross, veiling or crepe-line.

Spanish girdles of black velvet are worn as a finish with the shirred corsets and belted corsets of white mull and lace-trimmed gowns.

Among the newest shades "dawn" is conspicuous. This is a rosy golden hue, and it is most effective when combined with vivid Roman red.

Muslin wrappers are made so elaborate this season that they resemble tea gowns. They are frequently worn over slips of colored sarah or China silk.

Dainty Parisian shirt waists are made of striped sarah, figured China silk, or of tinted foulard, with slender stripes of roses and leaves on its surface.

Night dresses are made so much fuller than formerly that they are used for robes de chambre in the morning, and also for the day wrappers of invalids.

Jet still remains a favorite garniture for all fabrics for which it can appropriately be used. The newest designs are in very narrow borders and composed of the finest cut beads.

A low-crowned silk hat is the correct thing to wear with a riding habit for city and park wear, but in the country the double visored jockey cap of velvet or cloth to match the dress is worn.

Dull-colored plaids are likely to be revived. Especially stylish are those in dark, dull greens or in combination of gray with green, blue with brown, green with brown or blue with purplish red.

IN-DOORS AND OUT.

WOMEN IN THE OPEN AIR.

The Latest Fad Among the Belles of Chicago is to Go Hunting Like Men—A Natty Costume for Road Use—Where Ladies from the Garden City Seek Game—A Rabbit's Escape—Diana's New Acquaintance.

Women are certainly emancipated in the matter of outdoor exercise, says the Chicago News. There is absolutely no open air amusement or pursuit in which the American girl does not participate. She is mistress of the tennis field, she can row a boat and feather her oars. She rides, she drives, and lately she has invaded the hunting grounds.

The most fashionable women, who have all summer sojourned by the seaside, do not return to the city as soon as the water is too cold for the delectable bathing dresses and open-work stockings. They linger in some pretty mountain resort, or they visit one another's country homes. It is so delightful to stay out of town "when the leaves begin to turn."

When the cool breezes of autumn blow with exhilarating freshness, belies their riding habits and think nothing of a fifteen-mile canter. The latest habits, by the way, have no essentially new or odd features. They are exceedingly plain, but their fit is above reproach. All habits must be tailor-made, and they cost about one hundred dollars. There is much extravagance in saddles and bridles. The finest saddles are made of the skin of that thing but esthetic animal, the pig. Pig skin saddles do not soil easily, and are susceptible to the cleaning effects of soap and water. They are therefore more popular than the stitched and comfortable-looking buckskin saddles.

The dogcart has its season of popularity in autumn, when the exertion of driving is no longer tiresome to women who can afford special costumes for such occasions. The dog cart costume is dashing and becoming, and a director's coat is provided to wear with it. A bewitching toque of the same materials as the dress accompanies it, and suede gloves incase the hands. A great latitude in colors is allowable, and most striking combinations are stylish. A Michigan avenue belle wears a white cloth gown.

cap, and a pair of flashing eyes met his. The young lady's attitude was commanding, although her plain skirt was gathered up over one arm, thus disclosing the high-topped boots and about twelve inches of the corduroy garment above them. As her indignation subsided the fair Diana dropped her skirt and her gun simultaneously. After the stranger had dodged in the fear of being accidentally shot, and when the huntress had recovered from her blushes, a pleasant acquaintance was made, much to the advantage of the escaping rabbit.

ABOUT GRAPES.

How to Keep Them in Winter—By Proper Treatment You Can Have Fresh Grapes as Late as February.

The cultivation of out-door grapes for domestic use has become, says a writer in the American Agriculturist, so general that the subject of keeping them for winter use, and the best method, may profitably claim attention. The past season I selected from over one hundred varieties in my grounds forty of those in general cultivation and a few very recent introductions to test their keeping qualities. It is the generally received opinion that the thick-skinned native seedlings are the only keepers. This is correct so far as regards preserving flavor, but several hybrids of foreign blood are the best keepers known. The varieties intended to be laid up for winter use should be those only which adhere well to the stem and are not inclined to shrivel soon after removal from the vine. They should be allowed to remain on the vine as long as they are safe from frost; a clear, dry day is necessary for picking; careful handling and shallow baskets are important. The room in which they are to be kept for awhile should be well ventilated and the fruit laid out in single layers on tables or in baskets where the air freely circulates, closing the windows at night and in damp weather.

In about ten days the stems will be dried out sufficiently to prevent moulding after they are laid away. When danger from this is over, and the stems resemble those of raisins, the time for packing has arrived. I have used baskets for permanent packing, but much prefer shallow trays or boxes of uniform size to be placed one above the other so that each box covers the one below, the uppermost only needing a cover. Until very cold weather the boxes can be piled so as to allow the remaining moisture to escape through a crevice about the width of a knife-blade. Before packing, each bunch should be examined, and all injured, cracked and rotten berries removed with suitable scissors. If two layers are packed in a box, a sheet of paper should intervene; the boxes must be kept in a dry, cool room, or passage, at an even temperature. If the thermometer goes much below freezing point a blanket or newspaper can be thrown over them to be removed in mild weather. Looking them over once in the winter and removing defective berries will suffice, the poorest keepers being placed accessible. Under this treatment the best keepers will be in good eatable order as late as February, after which they deteriorate.

SOME POINTS ON STYLES.

Yokes and cuffs of gold passementerie appear among the new trimmings, and are to be worn upon a great variety of dresses.

The belt especially favored by ladies just now is a broad band of satin-finished silver, with asthetic figures neatly etched upon it.

Mitts of real lace are new, and are favored for evening wear. They may be procured in black, white or pale tints which match the dress.

More ribbon arranged in rows is taking the place of lace as a garniture for costumes of cream or snow white albatross, veiling or crepe-line.

Spanish girdles of black velvet are worn as a finish with the shirred corsets and belted corsets of white mull and lace-trimmed gowns.

Among the newest shades "dawn" is conspicuous. This is a rosy golden hue, and it is most effective when combined with vivid Roman red.

Muslin wrappers are made so elaborate this season that they resemble tea gowns. They are frequently worn over slips of colored sarah or China silk.

Dainty Parisian shirt waists are made of striped sarah, figured China silk, or of tinted foulard, with slender stripes of roses and leaves on its surface.

Night dresses are made so much fuller than formerly that they are used for robes de chambre in the morning, and also for the day wrappers of invalids.

Jet still remains a favorite garniture for all fabrics for which it can appropriately be used. The newest designs are in very narrow borders and composed of the finest cut beads.

A low-crowned silk hat is the correct thing to wear with a riding habit for city and park wear, but in the country the double visored jockey cap of velvet or cloth to match the dress is worn.

Dull-colored plaids are likely to be revived. Especially stylish are those in dark, dull greens or in combination of gray with green, blue with brown, green with brown or blue with purplish red.

cap, and a pair of flashing eyes met his. The young lady's attitude was commanding, although her plain skirt was gathered up over one arm, thus disclosing the high-topped boots and about twelve inches of the corduroy garment above them. As her indignation subsided the fair Diana dropped her skirt and her gun simultaneously. After the stranger had dodged in the fear of being accidentally shot, and when the huntress had recovered from her blushes, a pleasant acquaintance was made, much to the advantage of the escaping rabbit.

ABOUT GRAPES.

How to Keep Them in Winter—By Proper Treatment You Can Have Fresh Grapes as Late as February.

The cultivation of out-door grapes for domestic use has become, says a writer in the American Agriculturist, so general that the subject of keeping them for winter use, and the best method, may profitably claim attention. The past season I selected from over one hundred varieties in my grounds forty of those in general cultivation and a few very recent introductions to test their keeping qualities. It is the generally received opinion that the thick-skinned native seedlings are the only keepers. This is correct so far as regards preserving flavor, but several hybrids of foreign blood are the best keepers known. The varieties intended to be laid up for winter use should be those only which adhere well to the stem and are not inclined to shrivel soon after removal from the vine. They should be allowed to remain on the vine as long as they are safe from frost; a clear, dry day is necessary for picking; careful handling and shallow baskets are important. The room in which they are to be kept for awhile should be well ventilated and the fruit laid out in single layers on tables or in baskets where the air freely circulates, closing the windows at night and in damp weather.

In about ten days the stems will be dried out sufficiently to prevent moulding after they are laid away. When danger from this is over, and the stems resemble those of raisins, the time for packing has arrived. I have used baskets for permanent packing, but much prefer shallow trays or boxes of uniform size to be placed one above the other so that each box covers the one below, the uppermost only needing a cover. Until very cold weather the boxes can be piled so as to allow the remaining moisture to escape through a crevice about the width of a knife-blade. Before packing, each bunch should be examined, and all injured, cracked and rotten berries removed with suitable scissors. If two layers are packed in a box, a sheet of paper should intervene; the boxes must be kept in a dry, cool room, or passage, at an even temperature. If the thermometer goes much below freezing point a blanket or newspaper can be thrown over them to be removed in mild weather. Looking them over once in the winter and removing defective berries will suffice, the poorest keepers being placed accessible. Under this treatment the best keepers will be in good eatable order as late as February, after which they deteriorate.

SOME POINTS ON STYLES.

Yokes and cuffs of gold passementerie appear among the new trimmings, and are to be worn upon a great variety of dresses.

The belt especially favored by ladies just now is a broad band of satin-finished silver, with asthetic figures neatly etched upon it.

Mitts of real lace are new, and are favored for evening wear. They may be procured in black, white or pale tints which match the dress.

More ribbon arranged in rows is taking the place of lace as a garniture for costumes of cream or snow white albatross, veiling or crepe-line.

Spanish girdles of black velvet are worn as a finish with the shirred corsets and belted corsets of white mull and lace-trimmed gowns.

Among the newest shades "dawn" is conspicuous. This is a rosy golden hue, and it is most effective when combined with vivid Roman red.

Muslin wrappers are made so elaborate this season that they resemble tea gowns. They are frequently worn over slips of colored sarah or China silk.

Dainty Parisian shirt waists are made of striped sarah, figured China silk, or of tinted foulard, with slender stripes of roses and leaves on its surface.

Night dresses are made so much fuller than formerly that they are used for robes de chambre in the morning, and also for the day wrappers of invalids.

Jet still remains a favorite garniture for all fabrics for which it can appropriately be used. The newest designs are in very narrow borders and composed of the finest cut beads.

A low-crowned silk hat is the correct thing to wear with a riding habit for city and park wear, but in the country the double visored jockey cap of velvet or cloth to match the dress is worn.

Dull-colored plaids are likely to be revived. Especially stylish are those in dark, dull greens or in combination of gray with green, blue with brown, green with brown or blue with purplish red.

IN-DOORS AND OUT.

WOMEN IN THE OPEN AIR.

The Latest Fad Among the Belles of Chicago is to Go Hunting Like Men—A Natty Costume for Road Use—Where Ladies from the Garden City Seek Game—A Rabbit's Escape—Diana's New Acquaintance.

Women are certainly emancipated in the matter of outdoor exercise, says the Chicago News. There is absolutely no open air amusement or pursuit in which the American girl does not participate. She is mistress of the tennis field, she can row a boat and feather her oars. She rides, she drives, and lately she has invaded the hunting grounds.

The most fashionable women, who have all summer sojourned by the seaside, do not return to the city as soon as the water is too cold for the delectable bathing dresses and open-work stockings. They linger in some pretty mountain resort, or they visit one another's country homes. It is so delightful to stay out of town "when the leaves begin to turn."

When the cool breezes of autumn blow with exhilarating freshness, belies their riding habits and think nothing of a fifteen-mile canter. The latest habits, by the way, have no essentially new or odd features. They are exceedingly plain, but their fit is above reproach. All habits must be tailor-made, and they cost about one hundred dollars. There is much extravagance in saddles and bridles. The finest saddles are made of the skin of that thing but esthetic animal, the pig. Pig skin saddles do not soil easily, and are susceptible to the cleaning effects of soap and water. They are therefore more popular than the stitched and comfortable-looking buckskin saddles.

The dogcart has its season of popularity in autumn, when the exertion of driving is no longer tiresome to women who can afford special costumes for such occasions. The dog cart costume is dashing and becoming, and a director's coat is provided to wear with it. A bewitching toque of the same materials as the dress accompanies it, and suede gloves incase the hands. A great latitude in colors is allowable, and most striking combinations are stylish. A Michigan avenue belle wears a white cloth gown.

cap

W. P. WALTON.

A DISPATCH from New York says that Senator Gorman and Congressman Scott, after several days' stay at democratic headquarters and a careful survey of the field, are satisfied that New York, New Jersey and Indiana are sure for Cleveland and Thurman. They expect that Connecticut will also give a plurality for the national democratic ticket, and all their reports from Michigan point to the same conclusion. From Illinois and California, too, come assurances that the democracy have good prognostications of victory. Stranger things have happened and it will be in keeping with Cleveland's luck to be re-elected on a tidal wave.

J. A. SCOTT, a legislator from Franklin, made a cowardly assault on Vice-President Stahlman at Frankfort, because of a letter published over his signature and those of Gen. Basil Duke and Stuart R. Knott during the life of the legislature, relative to the action of that body on railroad matters. Gen. Duke was in town at the time, but the valiant Scott, who is said to be a veritable giant, preferred not to expose his carcass to that gentleman, who is sound as a dollar and as brave as a Julius Caesar, but instead jumped on a cripple, who was not able to cope with him physically, even if he were not.

THE secretary sent a copy of the minutes, with the papers read at the last Kentucky Press Association, to every editor in the State, requesting those who did not belong to send $1 and have their names enrolled. That was in August. It is October now and but one response has come, with enclosure, and that from Mr. James Maret, of the Mt. Vernon Signal. Is it from a scarcity of dollars or lack of interest that all the editors do not join the Association? Surely it cannot be for the former reason.

THE Louisville Times published its annual reading of the goose bone in a double issue Tuesday, headed with an amusing cut of a goose with a pair of spectacles on reading the weather bulletins. If there is any confidence to be placed in the bone, and the Times stakes its reputation that there is, we are to have a long, cold winter, with heavy storms, deep snows and the mercury below zero often in December and January.

THE municipal election in Newark, N. J., Tuesday resulted in a democratic victory by 1,200, notwithstanding the same city gave Blaine four years ago a majority of 1,500. This in the face of the fact that the republicans used money lavishly and tried to work the free trade scare ought to be a pretty strong pointer as to how the State will go in November. Oh! we've got 'em. There's not much dispute about that.

If the royal reception tendered Congressman Cantrich on his return to Louisville is any indication, he will be returned to Washington by such a majority as will eternally squelch Hummy Wilson and his republican backers. Besides 2,200 men belonging to clubs, bearing torches and transparencies, the C. J. says 15,000 people listened to his speech and applauded it to the echo.

THE Grand Lodge of Good Templars was in session this week in Louisville, but a glance at the list of those in attendance does not show many of those who howl for political prohibition. There is a great difference between being for temperance for sake and for prohibition with the prospect of the leaves and fishes that shall come from the offices.

FOR the first time since the days of Taney a democrat fills the exalted position of chief justice of the U. S. Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, was sworn in Monday with impressive ceremonies, which would have been more so, but for the hideous Mother Hubbard that custom compels the Supreme Court to wear and which it is high time should be discarded.

THE Owensboro Inquirer's twenty-page issue, celebrating the first anniversary of its daily, is a specimen of enterprise of which any paper might be proud. It is handsomely illustrated with cuts of prominent men and things about town and chuck full of good reading matter. Messrs. Ford & Watkins, we congratulate you.

AN Indiana belle has bet a young man her hand in marriage against a seal skin cloak that Harrison will be elected. She may get the cloak and a husband, both of which she seems to be after, but it won't be because he will have to pay them, simply because he wants to.

THE New York Star is now edited by the sheriff. At least he has taken charge of the office. That officer seems to have taken a big hand in the newspaper world of late, though as a writer he has never attained much of a reputation.

THE originator of Volapuk, the universal language, is dead. God rest his soul. Many of those who have racked their brains trying to learn the impossible jargon will probably wish he had gone hence long before he did.

Gov. McCREARY was accorded a grand ovation at Shelbyville, where he spoke Monday for two hours to an immense audience, covering the issues of the campaign in a splendid manner. At night the bonfires were lighted in his honor, and the local band, accompanied by a large number of voters, called on the distinguished gentleman and tendered him a serenade, to which he very happily responded. Everywhere the Governor has been so far, he has created great enthusiasm and awakened the sleeping democrats to the importance of the contest between the money power supported by the republican party and the cause of the people championed by the democrats. He will speak here next Wednesday, when Lincoln county democrats should see that a grand reception is given him.

THE Advocate, which has always espoused the cause of temperance, and been instrumental to a great degree in securing the stringent anti-liquor laws that prevail in Danville, says of the republican side show inaugurated by the prohibitionists: "The truth of the matter is that the real friends of temperance in Kentucky cannot be induced to follow the lead of political prohibitionists in the crusades they have undertaken, for, as shown conclusively by Mr. Nooe in his canvass thus far, the only possible effect will be to divert attention from the main issue and permit the republicans to gain an advantage."

ANOTHER appalling railroad disaster is added to the long list. An excursion train on the Lehigh Valley road in Pennsylvania ran into the forward section. Both were heavily loaded with people, 60 of whom were killed and more than that number wounded. Still another marine disaster is also reported. The steamer Queen collided off New Foundland with a fishing schooner and 21 persons showed watery graves.

RAINY weather has not improved the yellow fever outlook at Jacksonville, though the number of new cases are not as large or the deaths as great as at first. This because nearly the entire population has been affected and there is not much more material to work upon. There are several new cases at Decatur, but no deaths reported yesterday.

GEN. BRADLEY, looking weary and worn in the futile effort to learn how to think, passed down to "Hunter's District," as he called it, the other day, and is now talking with his mouth there. We have been a little dubious of democratic success in the 3d, but doubts are now dispelled. Bradley will prove Hunter's Burchard.

BILLY BRUCKENRIDGE has lost his silver voice temporarily and has had to cancel his New York engagements. If he does not regain it and Col. Swopes continues to have that sore throat which McKenzie gave him, the voters of the 7th district are likely to go without chin music the balance of the campaign.

NEWS CONDENSED.

—There were three suicides in Louisville Wednesday.

—Gov. Hill and Blaine are both speaking in Indiana, but not together.

—The L. & N. has withdrawn from the Southern Passenger Association.

—The expressmen's stable in New York burned, and with it two men and 26 horses.

—The editor-in-chief and the city editor of the Jacksonville Times, who remained at their posts, have both died of yellow fever.

—Six inches of snow covers the ground at Montreal and several inches show up in New Hampshire and Vermont. This is the heaviest storm since 1853.

—The democrats of Virginia are determined to carry the Petersburg Congressional district (Mahone's) and Chairman Barbour thinks it can be done.

—The Richmond, Nicholasville, Irvine and Beattyville Railroad Co., having entered into a contract with the Ohio Valley Improvement and Contract Co., which insures the building of its road to the Three Forks of the Kentucky River, broke dirt in Jessamine county yesterday. The point chosen is at the crossing of the Harrodsburg turnpike, on the farm of J. G. Neal, between Versailles and Nicholasville, 5 miles from the latter place.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. Dr. E. O. Guerrant has declined the call to Richmond; salary $1,500.

—Elder J. G. Livingston has just closed a 12 days' meeting at Soopers with 18 additions.

—The congregational meeting at the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon decided to call Rev. Ben Helm to the pastorate for his full time at $1,200 a year.

—The Louisville Southern Conference has 199 preachers and 39,320 members, a gain in membership in the last year of 2,612. The average pay of the preachers is about $450.

—Rev. B. F. Taylor's meeting closed at Buckeye Baptist church with 25 additions. This was the third meeting held there by him in two years, the total number of converts at the meetings being 120.

—The Southern Methodist Conference in session at Lebanon, with the usual conservatism and wisdom of the Church, passed resolutions pledging itself to temperance and prohibition as a moral issue. The Southern Methodist Church has never believed in mixing politics and religion, whatever may be said of the Northern Branch.

—After holding 18 days the meeting at the Christian church, closed Wednesday night, the visible results being 51 additions to the membership, besides a general revival of religion among the other members. Rev. George Darsie has labored lovingly and earnestly and his efforts here were blessed most abundantly. He is one of the best preachers in his church and knows, what so few ministers seem to know, when he is through his sermon and stops. To Christian and sinner he has alike endeared himself, and his coming will always be gladly received here. During the meeting some $800 of the $1,000 needed for improvements were raised, in addition to a liberal contribution for the preacher.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—The Presbyterian church at Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati, burned; loss $15,000.

—Nunnell & Catron have 50 No. 1 yearlings for sale; also 100 first-class feeders.

—Some new corn in the field has been sold in Fayette county at $1.50 per barrel.

—Catron & Nunnell bought in Wayne county 120 good feeders at 4c and 20 yearlings at 3c.

—Bourbon farmers have to pay 10 to 12c per bushel for cutting corn, because it is so heavy and badly blown down.

—FOR SALE—41 good yearling cotton mules. Large majority mares; 3 1/2 miles southwest of Hustonville, Ky. Staggs & Bohon.

—The Richmond Climax reports the sale of 8,000 bushels of wheat at $1.05 and the Winchester Democrat the same quantity at $1.

—Hon. W. T. Jones, of Jessamine, has sold to Foster & Ott, of Lexington, 44 head of extra fine beef cattle, 25 of them heifers, that weighed 1,200 pounds, to be delivered Nov. 1st, at 5 cts.—[Press.]

—In Cincinnati good cattle find ready sale; other grades dull. The market runs all the way from 1 1/2 for very common to 5 1/2 for choice shippers. Hogs are rather weak at 3 1/2 to $6.30. Sheep are quiet at 2 to 4c.

—It is estimated that over 400 acres of tobacco in Harrison county was damaged by the frost. The loss in Robertson county is estimated at 50 per cent.; in Mason county at 25 per cent. and in Bourbon county at 15.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Hon. Thos. S. Bronston, Collector of Internal Revenue, was here this week. He says the district is in excellent order and that the "hands" are doing good work and running things smoothly.

—Wakefield & Lee, of Danville, bought of J. S. Gill 50 head of New York cattle, averaging 1,500 pounds at 5c, and Nelson Morris, of Chicago, bought of W. S. Beazley 33 head that averaged 1,550 at $5.30.

—Miss Mary Gray, of Versailles, and Miss Ida Taylor, of Berry, arrived this week and their names have been added to the list of pupils at the college. H. C. Kauffman, wife and daughter, Louise, are enjoying the centennial exposition at Cincinnati. Dr. B. F. Walter, wife and daughter attended the Milburn-Walter wedding at Stanford yesterday.

—The clatter of fragments of metal, once called a bell, hanging in the courthouse cupola, has given nearly every one the jerks. Its repeated attempts and miserable failures to toll the hour of summons people together, forces the belief that the old bell has partaken of the character of the announcements so often made at the bar in the temple below. Hurry along the new bell, ye guardians of the people, and in addition to politics, give us a strong, clear, court-house ring.

—A few nights ago some of our young men tried the old game of frightening one of their fellows by stoning him while on the way to his home in the outskirts of town. The slight injury the young man received was even more than the boys intended to inflict, and while we are confident the young men intended no harm and did not fully realize what they were doing, their conduct was, nevertheless, exceedingly naughty, and should never be repeated. It is natural and wise for any one to avoid danger, and when a youth, attacked in the dark, attempts to escape he displays no lack of courage. And though one beset in this way may escape bodily harm, he sustains greater injury by reason of the fact that his companions have turned to hound him and render him an object of ridicule, whereas the affinity of youth should have united them in good fellowship, and their hopes and purposes serve as a bond of comfort and protection. So do not wound the spirit of any one, boys, but cultivate the affections of each other and grow into useful manhood together.

A First-Class Entertainment.

A good audience greeted the Al. G. Field Minstrels at the opera house last night. The entertainment was one of the best ever given in this city, the military first part being a decided hit. The singing and comedy business was all good. While other shows may have been distinguished by one or two special features, none as a whole ever excelled that given by Al. G. Field last night. A better satisfied audience never left the opera house and the Company scored a decided hit for eclipsing all former efforts made by it. The costumes are new and elegant, and all the old stereotyped features of a minstrel entertainment have been abandoned for new and novel effects.—[Charleston, W. Va., Daily Star, October 4.]

Will be in Stanford to-morrow night, 13th.

A man that refuses to look at a circus promotion would actually want a fairer plan than Gant's magic chicken cholera cure is sold on, which is "no cure no pay." Sold by McRoberts & Staggs. 2t

Bringing Gladness.

To millions, pleasing their palates and cleansing their systems, arousing their Livers, Kidneys, Stomachs, and Bowels to a healthy activity. Such is the mission of the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs.

For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

PUBLIC SALE OF SHORTHORN CATTLE!

Messrs. Granville Cecil and R. M. Fisher, of Boyle county, will hold a joint sale of fashionably bred Shorthorn Cattle at the FAIR GROUNDS, DANVILLE, OCT. 23 '88, Beginning at 1 o'clock, P. M. Those desiring catalogues can obtain them promptly by addressing either of the above named at Danville, Ky. P. C. Kidd will be Auctioneer. 67-td

No. 1705

REPORT OF THE CONDITION

OF THE FARMERS NATIONAL BANK, AT STANFORD, In the State of Kentucky, at the close of business, Oct. 4, 1888.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$12,503 43
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	9,685 30
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	50,000 00
Other stocks, bonds and mortgages	22,800 00
Due from approved reserve agents	45,000 00
Due from other National Banks	4,971 42
Due from State Banks and Bankers	8 35
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	7,300 00
Current expenses and taxes paid	909 29
Premiums paid	3,530 00
Bills of other Banks	1,000 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	31 63
Legal tender notes	2,800 00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer, 5 per cent. of circulation	2,250 00
Total	$468,615 90

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$200,000 00
Surplus fund	80,000 00
Undivided profits	3,048 01
National Bank Notes outstanding	45,000 00
Individual deposits subject to check	123,493 10
Due to other National Banks	14,353 91
Due to State Banks and Bankers	2,710 88
Total	$468,615 90

STATE OF KENTUCKY, ss.

County of Lincoln, ss. I, John B. Owsley, cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JOHN B. OWSLEY, Cashier.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 8th day of Oct., 1888. W. M. BRIGHT, N. P. L. C.
Correct attest: S. H. SHANKS, J. S. OWSLEY, JOHN F. CASH, Directors.

No. 2788

REPORT OF THE CONDITION

OF THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK, AT STANFORD, In the State of Kentucky, at the close of business Oct. 4, 1888.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$345,337 38
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	18,837 74
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	50,000 00
Other stocks, bonds and mortgages	45,600 00
Due from approved reserve agents	5,143 41
Due from other National Banks	6,534 61
Due from State Banks and Bankers	530 80
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	8,900 00
Current expenses and taxes paid	2,042 60
Premiums paid	6,267 10
Checks and other cash items	3,535 34
Bills of other Banks	40 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	65 57
Legal tender notes	3,620 00
Due from U. S. Treasurer, other than 5 per cent. redemption fund	2,250 00
Total	$597,413 04

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$250,000 00
Surplus fund	13,000 00
Undivided profits	5,345 39
National Bank Notes outstanding	45,000 00
Individual deposits subject to check	143,925 39
Certified checks	50 00
Due to other National Banks	7,194 31
Due to State Banks and Bankers	1,303 05
Notes and bills re-discounted	26,395 00
Special loan	10,000 00
Total	$597,413 04

STATE OF KENTUCKY, ss.

County of Lincoln, ss. I, John J. McRoberts, cashier of above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JOHN J. McROBERTS, Cashier.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of Oct., 1888. W. M. BRIGHT, N. P. L. C.
Correct attest: J. S. HOCKER, T. HARRIS, W. G. WELCH, Directors.

No. 2917

REPORT OF THE CONDITION

OF THE NATIONAL BANK OF HUSTONVILLE, AT HUSTONVILLE, In the State of Kentucky, at the close of business Oct. 4, 1888.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$190,634 20
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	806 44
U. S. Bonds to secure circulation	10,500 00
Due from approved reserve agents	10,441 63
Due from other National Banks	15,040 07
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	1,500 00
Current expenses and taxes paid	588 44
Premiums paid	2,900 00
Checks and other cash items	404 30
Bills of other Banks	486 00
Specie	5,222 42
Legal tender notes	1,500 00
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer, 5 per cent. of circulation	502 50
Total	$353,492 20

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$50,000 00
Surplus fund	7,000 00
Undivided profits	3,984 39
National Bank notes outstanding	10,750 00
Individual deposits subject to check	76,150 90
Due to other National Banks	2,284 47
Notes and bills re-discounted	3,322 53
Total	$353,492 20

STATE OF KENTUCKY, ss.

County of Lincoln, ss. I, J. W. Hocker, cashier of the above named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

J. W. HOCKER, Cashier.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of Oct., 1888. G. F. PEACOCK, N. P. L. C.
Correct attest: EDWARD ALORIN, T. J. ROBINSON, H. BROWN, Directors.

OVERCOATS!

—IN—

Satinets and Kerseys, Worsteds and Chin-chillas.

In Light and Dark Colors and in Light Medium and Heavy Weights.

Our Stock is Full of Fresh Goods.

Come Early and get Choice of Patterns and Sizes.

BRUCE & McROBERTS.

T. R. WALTON

Grocer,

MAIN & SOMERSET STREETS,

STANFORD, KENTUCKY.

Prices Always Reasonable and Goods First-Class.

GOOD EMPTY BARRELS FOR SALE.

BUGGIES, CARRIAGES

Surreys, Phaetons, Buckboards, Road Carts and Spring Wagons, the best assortment we have ever had, embracing over

30

Different styles and prices. Our stock consists largely of the better grades, and includes some of the very best vehicles made for the trade. Come and see our goods before making your selections. You will be astonished to see such a stock in Stanford.

GEO. D. WEAREN, MAN'G'R.
MRS. J. F. WEAREN, PROPRIETOR.

NEW FURNITURE STORE!

MAACK HUFFMAN, PROP.

Will keep constantly on hand a large and select line of Furniture and Undertaker's Goods. My prices will be as low as such goods can be bought in the cities. Give me a trial and you will be convinced that I sell lower than the lowest.

OWSLEY -AND- CRAIG

To the Fall and Winter Trade of Lincoln & Surrounding Counties:

We do not hesitate to say that we have the

Largest and Best Selected Stock

Dry Goods

—EVER SHOWN—

IN STANFORD, KY.

And if you will give us a call we will easily convince you of this fact.

DRESS GOODS.

We have the largest stock and the latest styles of Dress Goods, consisting of Broad Cloths, Henriettas, &c., in all grades and the very latest colors that were ever shown here.

Dress Trimmings

And FANCY GOODS.

We defy competition in quantity, quality and prices.

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

In this line we can not be beat; every one can find what they want, and as we buy direct from the manufacturers, we are enabled to give you the very bottom prices. Call in and see our line and if we should happen not to have just the size or what you exactly want, we can get it for you on a very short notice.

Carpets & Window Shades

We have a very large stock of these goods. In Carpets we can suit you in prices, from 15c up to any price you want. In Window Shades, we have them at the very bottom prices and in all styles and colors.

Hosiery, Underwear and Gloves,

For both sexes and in all sizes and prices. A look through this stock will please you.

Pants Patterns and Cassimeres.

In this line we can not be beaten in beauty of styles, quality and quantity of goods.

Boots and Shoes.

In Ladies', Misses' and Children's Shoes, we have the largest stock we have ever had, both in Custom and Eastern makes. In our Boot stock we have everything that is desirable and at very low prices.

Jeans, Yarns, Cotton Cloths, &c.

This department is very full of the best standard brands at exceedingly low prices.

Order Department.

All orders from a distance, either by mail or otherwise, will receive our prompt attention and will be carefully filled.

Please give us a call when here and we will convince you that what we say is perfectly true.

Very respectfully, OWSLEY & CRAIG.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

E. C. WALTON, Bus. Manager

STANFORD, KY., OCTOBER 12, 1888

MEANS BUSINESS.

WATCHES and jewelry repaired and warranted. A. R. Penny.

The best place to buy drugs, patent medicines and toilet articles is at A. R.
Penny's.

Buy your school books, ink, tablets, paper, pencils and school supplies of all kinds from A. R. Penny.

I guarantee all watches and every article of jewelry I sell to be just as represented. A. R. Penny.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Mrs. O. H. McROBERTS has gone on a visit to Liberty.

Mr. Ed GAINES has returned from a visit to Frankfort.

Mr. J. R. CROOKE, of the Lily Coal Co., was down Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. ELMORR have been in Cincinnati all this week.

Miss MATTIE WILLIAMS, of Mr. Vernon, is visiting Mrs. W. J. Sparks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. CRAIG are visiting
Mrs. R. W. Lillard at Lebanon.

Mrs. LOU SHANKS has gone on a short visit to her mother at Lexington.

Judge W. L. BROWN, of London, was down this week on legal business.

Mr. J. P. JONES, of Lexington, is assisting in the store of S. L. Powers & Co.

Mr. A. R. PENNY is making a visit of business and pleasure to Cincinnati and Newport.

Mr. W. L. WITHERS has gone to Clinton county to buy wheat for George D.
Wearen, agent.

Mr. W. H. HIGGINS, who has been down a week or two with malarial fever, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. HAYS returned from Eureka Springs, Ark., yesterday.
Mr. Hays seems much improved.

Mr. J. L. ANDERSON orders his paper changed to Pleasant View, Whitley county, to which place he has removed.

Mr. M. F. HULET is back from a visit to his folks at Minneapolis, Minn. He thinks the State will go 10,000 republican.

Mr. F. J. CAMPBELL arrived from Rock Castle Springs yesterday, looking all the better for heavy work during a prosperous season.

Miss BETTIE C. LOGAN has been appointed vice-president for Jefferson county of the State Music Teachers' Association. (Louisville Times.)

Mrs. JOHN A. HALDEMAN, of Louisville, who is visiting her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. John Buchanan, was down with Miss Jean Buchanan yesterday.

Prof. J. M. HUBBARD, his two sons,
Eugene and Arthur, Mrs. H. J. McRoberts and Misses Emma McKean and Dollie Williams went to Cincinnati yesterday.

Dr. G. A. TRAYLOR, who is visiting in Columbia, writes that he finds the prospect, both there and elsewhere, for the election of Gen. Wolford very encouraging.

Mrs. WM. WELSH and Misses Maud and Maggie, who have been living here for several years and made many friends left Wednesday morning for Pennsylvania, their former home, where we are sorry to say.

W. E. VARNON, Esq., Clerk of the Private Lands Committee, Washington, is at home to see "Sallie and the baby." He says there is a feeling of confidence at the Capital City that Cleveland will be elected.

CITY AND VICINITY.

New Candies at the Model Grocery.

FRESH oysters to-day at S. S. Myers'.

Read Owsley & Craig's "ad." and profit by it.

New lot of overcoats just received at
S. H. Shanks'.

You can get a light running New Home on easy payments at B. K. Wearen's.

New line of Glass and Queensware just received at A. A. Warren's Model Grocery.

Mrs. NIELD will speak on prohibition at the Christian church Sunday afternoon.

A cold rain fell all of yesterday, but the signal service promises to give us clear weather to-day.

STANFORD is badly in need of a tinner.
There is more work than the present firm can half attend to.

Do not fail to visit Severance & Son's new store when you come to court Monday. Everything new.

A NUMBER of our doctors will have to answer indictments for a too liberal dispensation of whisky prescriptions.

Look out for new millinery. I will have my fall and winter opening Friday and Saturday, Oct. 12-13. Call and see my elegant line before buying, then you will never leave until you buy. Mrs.
Kate Dudderar.

BRO. BALLOU says the leaders of the prohibitionists in this county are not republicans, as we charged. He himself, he avers, never voted for a republican for president, but he doesn't say how often he has cast his lot with the republicans in local races.

See the light running New Home at B.
K. Wearen's.

TRADE your old machine for a light running New Home.

THERE will be an impromptu hop at Walton's Opera House to-night.

BARGAINS in jeans, flannels, boots, shoes, underwear, &c., at Severance & Son's.

It is to the interest of every purchaser of dry goods to read the large advertisement of Owsley & Craig in this paper.

An old-fashioned high clock showing moon's phases and days of week; a good time-keeper, for sale. Apply at this office.

ALL persons in the adjoining towns and counties should take time to read the new advertisement of Owsley &
Craig in this issue.

Mrs. W. F. McKINNEY has received through Cashier J. J. McRoberts $950, amount of policy held by her husband in the Equitable Life Assurance Co., of New York.

SHOCKING.—A little red hog was run over and killed by the south-bound passenger train here Wednesday. But the rads and the nigs needn't tune up and cry. It wasn't the one from Laurel county.

By the turning of a rail the engine of the mixed train on the K. C. was thrown from the track at Paint Lick Monday night, causing a long delay in its arrival and a detention of the fast train until midnight.

AL FIELD and his Operatic Minstrels will have the largest crowd that has gathered in Walton's Opera House in many a day. If you want to be sure of a seat secure one at once for the show tomorrow night.

CASEY went for prohibition by 400 majority. Some precincts voted solidly for it, while at Middleburg the result was 160 to 9. We had this information Monday, but in waiting for its confirmation forgot to give it.

THE K. C. advertises a rate of $2.75 to Cincinnati and return on the 17th, including admission to the exposition, tickets good till the 20th. The excursion is for the benefit of the Menelee memorial church, Owingsville.

The opening of Courts & Cox yesterday was largely attended and their handsome line of fall and winter millinery was greatly admired. Those who could not attend yesterday are cordially invited to call to-day and to-morrow.

TO THE TAX-PAYERS.—Six per cent. is added by law on all taxes not paid by November 1st. County Court day in November will be too late. I have no discretion in the matter. The Auditor charges me with the additional 6 per cent. T. D. Newland, S. L. C.

FIELD'S Minstrels will arrive by the 2 o'clock train to-morrow and will parade as soon thereafter as they can get ready.
They make a splendid display with their Challenge band of 21 persons and the company in uniform. Don't miss it nor the performance to-morrow night.

If you don't find what you want in this issue you are all-fired hard to please.
We would rise to remark. There is something for all classes, from the boys and girls to the mature man and woman, and the politician and the voter will find much to read and reflect upon. Our friends, the advertisers, get in their work, too, and their contributions will likewise prove interesting and profitable.

THE Democratic County Committee seems to have forgotten that an election is approaching. It has absolutely done nothing so far, but we are glad to know that the committee appointed by the Club is doing good work. Beginning next week it will have such speakers as Judge Durham, Judge Breckinridge and others, besides our own local talent, to address the people in every precinct.
Let every democrat be up and doing.

DURING the latter part of August David Idol drew a pistol and attempted to shoot Conductor Kelley on the Cincinnati Southern. A warrant was sworn out against him, and this week he was brought here by Marshal Hughes, of Somerset, and turned over to Marshal
Carpenter, but he has neither given bail, had his trial fixed or been incarcerated yet, which seems to be a loose way of doing business. Mr. Idol has sworn out a cross warrant against the conductor, charging him with robbery.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Coralie Walker, of Richmond, is to be married to Mr. Leonard Colton Hanna on the 17th.

—Elder George S. Sweeney, a brother of Elder Joe, married a rich widow named Oaks in California. (News.)

—Mr. James Milburn and Miss Sallie
Walter were united in marriage by Dr.
Morris Evans at the residence of Mr.
Richard Walter yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Only the immediate family and relatives were present, and after the ceremony the newly wedded pair drove over to the groom's mother's in Danville where a reception was given them. Mr.
Milburn is head miller at the Stanford
Flouring Mills and stands highly as a citizen and a gentleman, while Miss Walter is not only a handsome, but a most estimable lady. We extend best wishes to the worthy couple.

NOW OPEN,

We Have Opened our Stock of

Dry Goods, Notions, Boots Shoes, Hats, &c.,

Which We Cordially invite the public to call and Examine. Everything is new,

NOT A PIECE OF OLD GOODS

And every thing has been selected with great care, the senior member's six years experience as a drummer enabling him to do so with discrimination and profit. The patronage of persons with cash and those who pay promptly at the end of each six months is especially desired.

Asking a share of your patronage, we are Respectfully,

SEVERANCE & SON.

SEASONABLE STYLES

IN FALL AND WINTER GOODS.

We Invite Attention to our Complete and Carefully Selected Stock of

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS

Shirts, Collars, Cuffs, Neckwear, &c.

HATS

In All the Approved Styles from 50c to $5.

The Largest Stock of

TRUNKS & VALISES

In this Section of the Country.

FOOTWEAR,

Comprising Extensive lines of Newest and most Fashionable Ladies'
Shoes, Gents' Boots and Shoes, Children and Baby Shoes, Rubbers, Overshoes, Etc. Men's Rubber's at 25c, Ladies' do. 25, Misses' 25.

THE PRICES ARE LOW!

No one can sell you RESPECTABLE Goods Cheaper. We doubt if you can find anyone willing to meet our prices in Qualities NEARLY as Good.

THESE GOODS ARE BARGAINS.

Viewed from any standpoint. Nothing better can be had. Now you know us and the Goods, for we have told you the TRUTH without mis-representation

TRY US, PROVE US, YOU'LL BE GLAD.

Respectfully,

CALDWELL & LANIER

DANVILLE, KY.

NEW! NEW! NEW!

A CARD TO THE PEOPLE OF LINCOLN COUNTY.

R. ZIMMER,

Of Lancaster, Ky., have opened in the house formerly occupied by Mr. Penny, in STANFORD, a First-Class Bakery, Restaurant and California Fruit Store. They will keep constantly on hand everything in their line, such as Bread, Rolls, Pies, Cakes and the Best of Candies, Fruits, Nuts, Etc., Etc. Meals served at any hour.

FRESH OYSTERS in EVERY STYLE

Respectfully,

R. ZIMMER,
Wholesale and Retail.

PLEASE OBSERVE

—THAT—

M'ROBERTS & STAGG

—HAVE—

A FULL ASSORTMENT

—OF—

WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, AND SILVERWARE.

Having secured the services of C. F. KENT, a practical Watchmaker with many years' experience, all work done with neatness and dispatch, fully insured. Spectacles and Eye Glasses to suit the eye.

Published Every Tuesday and Friday

AT—

$2 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

When not so paid $2.50 will be charged.

K. C. LOCAL TIME CARD.

Trains leave Rowland at 1:35 a. m. and 7:25 a. m. and return at 6 p. m. and 8:40 p. m.

L. & N. LOCAL TIME CARD.

Mail train going North..... 12:30 p. m.

Express train " " South..... 1:30 p. m.

Local Freight North..... 3:27 a. m.

South..... 6:55 p. m.

The latter trains also carry passengers.

The above is calculated on standard time. Solar time is about 20 minutes faster.

Grand Tobacco Excursion to Richmond, Virginia.

Special excursion train with Pullman Drawing-room Sleeping cars will leave Lexington, Ky., Oct. 23d at 12 o'clock noon, reaching Richmond, Va., the next day at 10 A. M., running on fast express time. Passengers can leave Louisville at 7:30 A. M., connecting with the special at Lexington, and can leave Cincinnati at 8:30 A. M., connecting with the special at Winchester. The round-trip rate from Louisville and Cincinnati will be $13; and from Lexington $12. Stop-over privileges will be granted on the return trip on all Virginia Exposition excursion tickets. Excursionists will have an opportunity to inspect the cheap lands and visit the interesting historical cities of Virginia. For rates address H. W. Fuller, General Passenger Agent Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, Louisville, Ky.

L. & N.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

—The Great—

THROUGH TRUNK LINE.

—To The—

SOUTH & WEST

—With—

PULLMAN PALACE CARS.

Louisville

To Nashville,

Memphis,

Atlanta,

Montgomery,

Little Rock,

Mobile and New Orleans.

Newport News & Miss. Valley Co.

Only one change to points in ARKANSAS & TEXAS.

EMIGRANTS

Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive

Special rates.

See agents in this company for rates, routes and tickets.

C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A.,

Louisville, Ky.

Kentucky Central R. R.

"BLUE GRASS ROUTE."

THE SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From

CENTRAL KENTUCKY

To All Points

NORTH, EAST, WEST AND

SOUTH-WEST.

FAST LINE BETWEEN

LEXINGTON & CINCINNATI.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT MAY 20, 1907.

South-Bound.

No. 2. No. 4.

Ex. Stan. Daily.

Live Lexington..... 8:30 a. m.

Live Falmouth..... 10:05 a. m.

Live Falmouth..... 10:05 a. m.

Live Lexington..... 11:40 a. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

Arr Lexington..... 12:20 p. m.

BILL NYE AND MRS. LANGTRY.

A Few Remarks About His Dinner with the Jersey Lily.

It was my blessed privilege last summer at Long Branch, in company with several other people prominent in art and literature, to lunch with Mrs. Langtry, and at leisure to converse with her in low, passionate accents about her future and her past. I had not intended to make the delightful chat public at first, for neither of us care to be brought prominently before the public, shrieking as we do from publicity of all kinds and only caring to do right while keeping in the background as much as possible. But the general interest felt in Mrs. Langtry leads me to burst through these restraints.

Mrs. Langtry, on the day I speak of, wore a new dress of lavender beanie trimmed with a different color around the bottom. She wore a sort of a brown straw turban, and her hair was done up in a hard knot at the back of her head. Her hair is a deep brown in color and quite nice to look at. She has a calm, honest eye, and behaved like a perfect lady all the time. I sat on her right at table, also on the edge of her dress by mistake. When we rose from the table she rose before I did, for I had lost my place on the menu, gently drifting back to bosom of lamb with mint dungs onto it, a dish of which I am very fond and one which we rarely get at home. I was eating some more of this when the rest had reached the doxology, and I did not notice that Mrs. Langtry was trying to rise. But she kept her temper like a perfect lady, waiting cheerfully until I had finished my meal and put a few raisins in my pocket to eat on my way home. Then she begged my pardon, and would I please take my chair off her dress. Why of course I would. For, as a matter of fact, it was my fault.

I was dressed plainly in a quiet yellow and black tunic, with a flannel skirt of some inflated fluff, elated together at the throat with a large knot of blue polka dot silk. I wore no suspenders, but held my knickerbockers in place by means of a linen and white silk stomacher or cinch, which attracted much attention from one and all.

That is one thing I like about Mrs. Langtry, she is not dressy and frivolous, or I can be grave and taciturn with those who prefer it.—Bill Nye in New York World.

The Boss and the Janitor.

Stranger to shabby individuals—Are you the janitor of this building?
"No, sir, that well-dressed gentleman with the plug hat is the janitor."
"Who are you?"
"I am the proprietor, here,"—Nebraska State Journal.

Crucify to Father.
One of Jones' peculiarities is never to admit that he is feeling well. No matter what species of suffering he is undergoing, the form his sympathy invariably takes is this: "Peeve it just so."

The other day he came home sick—too sick to go down to his supper. So it was sent up to his room by Mrs. Jones, who had prepared it herself. Among other delicacies were six new laid eggs, boiled to suit him. Once the children stayed with him, and watched the egg eating with interest. As Jones took up the sixth and last egg, the little fellow reached out his hand.

"Let me have it, papa."
Jones glared at the child, then he said huskily:
"Take it, eat it, unnatural child, and let your poor sick father starve!"
Tommy ate the egg.—Detroit Free Press.

An Unkind Cut.

He looked early at the pie on the boarding house table and seemed to be much affected. The landlady at first thought he was mad and was prepared for some remonstrance. But he said nothing, only looked sad.
"What is the matter, Mr. Jones?"
"Madam, this touches me."

"That pie, it looks so like one of the pies my mother made for me thirty years ago."
"Well, Mr. Jones, I'm sure I appreciate the compliment."
"Yes, madam, I believe this is one of the pies my mother made thirty years ago."
She raised his rent the next month.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Rules for Punctuation.

In a Boston newspaper office not long ago the chief proof reader had been greatly annoyed by an extraordinary use of commas that cropped out in occasional "takes" on his proofs, and finding that they occurred regularly under a certain "slug" he went to "slug fifteen" frame to expostulate with him. He found that the man was a new "sub," who said he came lately from Nova Scotia, and had learned his trade in a first class office in Halifax. "For pity sake," exclaimed the proof reader, "what sort of a system of punctuation do they employ in Halifax?" "The rule in our office," replied the compositor, "with a patronizing air, was to put about three commas to a line."

Will Never Repay.

The man who will invent a real nice reversible overcoat, with one side that looks like a light autumn top coat and the other looking like a midwinter ulster, will confer a favor upon the impetuous young humanity of this ungenerous time that they can never, never repay. It will be all they can do to pay for the overcoat.—Buffalo Courier.

Why They Raised.

Dealer to (cure)—I'm going to make those boys' diamond suits $15 to-morrow.
Clerk—Fifteen dollars? Why, we've been selling them for $10 all along.
Dealer—I know it, but I'm going to give away a baseball with each one of them free of charge.—Detroit Free Press.

The Flight of Time.

Aunt—'Cud yo' help a poor ole woman, sah, what was nuss to Gawge Washington?
Gentleman.—Nonsense, aunt, George Washington died before you were born.
Aunt—'Cud yo' help a poor ole woman, sah, what was nuss to Gawge Washington?
Gentleman.—Nonsense, aunt, George Washington died before you were born.

Aunt—'Cud yo' help a poor ole woman, sah, what was nuss to Gawge Washington?
Gentleman.—Nonsense, aunt, George Washington died before you were born.
Aunt—'Cud yo' help a poor ole woman, sah, what was nuss to Gawge Washington?
Gentleman.—Nonsense, aunt, George Washington died before you were born.

Terrible.

"It's terrible!" exclaimed an old lady, upon reading of a premature burial; "and I know that when I die I'll be worrying all the time I'm in the grave for fear I have buried alive."—Norristown Herald.

GOING TO SCHOOL.

Burdette Pours Out Some Philosophy on a Painful Subject.

Dear little man, so you are back in school and you don't like it pretty well, don't you? Well, that's natural and boy like, but it isn't right. Going to school is great fun, after you are too old to go any more, which will be when you are old enough to die, and then I suppose you will go to heaven some more. When I was your age I don't think I liked going to school a little bit, but that was because I didn't have very much sense when I was young. I only worked and studied about six or seven hours a day then, and had but three teachers to obey. I was the gladdest boy you ever knew, when I got out of school, and you never knew me. Since then I have been at work all the time, and have to obey more people than I ever saw in a school house at one time. The editor says if I don't like it, I can't go to school, but I don't want to go to school at all, at the foreman says he won't go in, the proof reader says if he doesn't get the proofs Thursday night they will have to read themselves and the compositors—there are seventy-five of them—declare they will strike if I don't write more plainly and punctuate properly, and spell better. Then I used to write before a small class, or the school at large, and now I have to read my composition and say my piece before all the subscribers. When I was a boy the teacher corrected me in the presence of the class, but now the critic, a terrible fellow he is, corrects me right out in print before everybody, and when I don't say my lesson to suit him doesn't he dust my jacket for me, thought the way he makes the lint fly is a caution, and the worst of it is I don't "holer," and so get over it; that would only make him laugh and now I have to read my composition at home and cry. "Give him some more of the same." He can—and does—say just as many things as he does rough one, but you have to dot your 'i's and cross your 't's to earn his approval. Then I have to work for my landlady, and the grocery man and the tax collector and the shoemaker, and I don't know how many other people. I have to buy oil for the marching club of my party, and I have to march in the dust or the mud, and listen to long speeches and make some longer myself. I have to say "I'm glad," "thank you," and say "sir" when I speak to the governor; I don't go in my bare feet, and I've only been fishing once this year, and then I didn't stay long and didn't catch anything; at the table, no matter how hungry I am, I have to serve everybody else before I get a bite to eat myself, and I am always the last one waited on; a man down in Bogalusa says he is going to lick me for shooting his dog—and he looks like a man of his word, too, when every body looks on in fear of a gun and couldn't hit a duck in the barns anyhow, on a rest, and with globe sights; another man threatens to put me in jail if I don't pay a bill that I have three receipts for, and a poor widow woman in Rag alley, who takes in washing and gin, is going to sue me if I don't pay her $10 because my cow tore up her garden, when she has no garden and I never owned a cow in my life. I can't follow the circus procession, I can't stay home when I have to teach school, I can't get exalted when the fish are biting, some of the boys in this great big school are bullies, and some of them are fools, and some of them are toughies, and some of them are sneaks, and some are liars, and some of them are great, big hearted, loving fellows, that you want to be with all the time, but they're so busy you can only snatch a word with them once in a long while. It isn't so very much different from your own school after all, only to go down to his supper. So it was sent up to his room by Mrs. Jones, who had prepared it herself. Among other delicacies were six new laid eggs, boiled to suit him. Once the children stayed with him, and watched the egg eating with interest. As Jones took up the sixth and last egg, the little fellow reached out his hand.

A Vivid Tale.

Years ago, when guano was first discovered as a fertilizer, an old friend of mine sent me a bottle full of guano to experiment with. I didn't think much of it, but one day while in my garden planting some cucumber seed I thought of the guano, so I took it along with me into the garden and sat down on the ground, scratched a hole in the earth, put in my guano and on it placed my cucumber seed, covered both carefully with the soil, and while sitting there but a few moments I noticed the earth over the seeds begin to move, and at the same time the young cucumber plants made their appearance. It was such a strange occurrence that I sat perfectly dumfounded, forgetting everything else. The vines began to spring and grow off like magic, and when I began to raise up I found my foot entangled with the vines. I, however, forced myself to a standing position. By this time I was completely enveloped with the vines. I made for my knife and succeeded in cutting myself loose and made my escape. But what astonished me most was the fact that when I got over the excitement and went to return my knife to my pocket, I found my pockets full of young cucumbers which had formed in my pockets, since which time I have had no use for guano.—Lagrange (Ga.) Graphic.

A Sure Way.

"John," said Mrs. Bentley, "suppose you heard a noise down stairs and didn't know whether it was the dog or a burglar, would you be so cruel as to send me down to find out?"
"No, dear," said Mr. Bentley; "I have a better way than that. I'd wait until next morning. If the silver was gone, I'd know it was burglars, and if the silver was not gone, I'd know it was the dog."—Harper's Bazar.

Barth's Forethought.

Dr. Noah Porter, who has just returned from Europe, expresses his astonishment at the ignorance of some of the English people who believe that in the event of President Cleveland's election this country will make an advance toward free trade. This is pitiful enough, but what has Dr. Porter to say about some of his own countrymen who are talking the same sort of arrant nonsense, just as if they believed it?—Boston Herald.

And Very Carelessly, Too.

Blaine's "revolution" in Maine is still revolving. The swollen leg of his claim became a shrunk shank several days ago, and as may be seen in the morning's news, the Republican plurality is still shrinking. For a man who habitually carries eggs in his coat tail pockets Mr. Blaine sits down a great deal.—Philadelphia Record.

Less Excuse for Them.

Dr. Noah Porter, who has just returned from Europe, expresses his astonishment at the ignorance of some of the English people who believe that in the event of President Cleveland's election this country will make an advance toward free trade. This is pitiful enough, but what has Dr. Porter to say about some of his own countrymen who are talking the same sort of arrant nonsense, just as if they believed it?—Boston Herald.

He-I must break off my engagement.

She-Why should you do that?

He-Well, your father has failed; how can I support a son-in-law in the style in which I have lived?

She-Why, you goose, he failed on purpose to meet the extra expense.—Harper's Bazar.

CHEAP COAT VS. CHEAP WHISKY.

Columbia—Surely it would only be fair to give him this.

Harrison—Never! "A cheap coat implies a cheap man under it." Give him some untaxed whisky.

How Common Things Become Sacred.

Any student who wants to understand how institutions, such as a monarchy or aristocracy, acquired in earlier times a sacred character, and became hedged with a sort of divinity, so that it was considered impious to examine their origin, or question their claims on human reverence, has only to read carefully the history of the Republican party and of the tariff. In 1884 we were brought for the first time face to face with the curious fact that a very large body of Americans were possessed by the idea that the Republican party was entitled by moral right to remain in possession of the government for an unlimited period. We remember hearing one man of prominence lay it down that President Arthur ought not to hand over the administration to a Democratic successor unless he was entirely satisfied that it was safe and expedient to do so. Clergymen were hunted out of their parishes, workmen lost their employment and storekeepers their custom and lecturers had their engagements canceled on this same assumption that the Republican party had, without reference to the quality of its managers, a sacrosanct character, which made voting against it the sign of moral obliquity. Attempts to show that a party was but a means to an end, that it was in the long run to outlive its usefulness, that human societies had to change their institutions as their needs changed, and that all human contrivances, such as governments, needed periodical questioning and overhauling, were resented as sophistries directed against American peace and order. The Democrats were painted as political devils who would revel in the ruin of the public credit, the plunder of the treasury and the destruction of the national industries. The reaction against such superstition, which, like the reaction against the witchcraft delusion, is sure to come in all civilized communities, has set in since 1884 undoubtedly. That year saw it at its height. The removal of the dread of the Democratic party, which pursued so many people's lives, stripped the sacerdotal robes off the Republican managers, and prepared the way for the purely secular treatment of the tariff as a device for raising money. People have begun to examine it, just as they examine their own income and expenditure, in a thoroughly rationalistic way. But one comes still across numerous proofs of the religious reverence with which it is still regarded in some circles, especially by those who profit by it. We have before us the refusal of a country editor to print even an advertisement, any criticisms of it in his paper.—New York Post.

It Cost That a Million.

The shallowness of the boasts of the Republicans over their so-called victory in Maine becomes more apparent each day. The National Democratic committee is now in possession of evidence going to show that the most outrageous bulldozing was practiced by Republican manufacturers on their employees, and that bribery was resorted to indiscriminately. The following letter, addressed to Col. Brice, received from Frank Smith, a merchant of Saco, Me., is a sample of many received at Democratic national headquarters relative to the Maine election:

"I enclose extracts from Daily Standard to inform you what we had to do in the First district of Maine and to congratulate yourself and committee on your judgment. We have made a gain of about 2,000 votes in the vote of four years ago. Votes are freely given in sums varying from $15 to $50 each. I am perfectly satisfied that the election cost the Republicans from $500,000 to $600,000, and still they have lost from 1884."

The newspaper slips inclosed in the above letter showed that two men, named Miliken and Smith, employed by the York Manufacturing company, were discharged because they worked and voted for the Democratic ticket.

Miliken had been employed by the company over twenty years, and on previous elections. It was said, did as his bulldozing employers wanted him.

What's the Matter With Anna?

An earnest attempt to "elevate the tone of politics" from the degradation to which it has sunk under the rule of a man is being made by Anna Dickinson, who has taken the stump for the Republicans in Indiana. She began by alluding to the president of the United States as "the hangman of Buffalo" and "an emissary of the devil," and has now proceeded to the point where she declares the contest one "between civilization, as represented by Gen. Harrison, and brutal barbarism, as represented by the Democracy." On this latter occasion, according to the correspondent of The Indianapolis Journal, "the great audience fairly went wild," which certainly seems exceedingly appropriate.—New York Post.

Dr. Noah Porter, who has just returned from Europe, expresses his astonishment at the ignorance of some of the English people who believe that in the event of President Cleveland's election this country will make an advance toward free trade. This is pitiful enough, but what has Dr. Porter to say about some of his own countrymen who are talking the same sort of arrant nonsense, just as if they believed it?—Boston Herald.

He-I must break off my engagement.

She-Why should you do that?

He-Well, your father has failed; how can I support a son-in-law in the style in which I have lived?

She-Why, you goose, he failed on purpose to meet the extra expense.—Harper's Bazar.

STORIES ABOUT MEN.

How Raymond Rescued a Colored Boy from a Watery Grave.

A good story, illustrative of the presence of mind of the late John T. Raymond, is told by an old actor, Raymond's company was making a one night stop in a little Georgia town. The play was one in which the ocean played a prominent part. The only ocean owned by the managers of the theatre was very old and weak. It had seen much duty and was in a very crippled condition. To illustrate the rolling of the waves, a number of street gamins were hired to go underneath a big blue cloth and bob up and down.

The play was in its most interesting part. Raymond was getting off some of his best gags. He was the only actor on the stage, and the audience was uproarious, when an accident occurred that came near wrecking the play.

Among the "waves" was a little negro. The space was very narrow under the ocean, and the bobs got quite warm. This particular little negro felt the heat. He removed one by one his habiliments, until his red shirt alone covered his nakedness.

In the midst of one of Raymond's best gags the old blue cloth ocean suddenly ripped and broke, and the aforementioned little negro was seen gallantly struggling with the waves. "Man overboard!" cried out Raymond. Some of the stage hands, dressed as sailors, rushed in and threw the little negro a rope. The "drowning wave" grabbed an end and the sailors dragged him out. When the audience saw the little peckinny in nothing but his red flannel shirt, they simply roared.

The little negro was the hero of the town ever afterward.—New York Evening Sun.

Stonewall Jackson's Joke.

Few men were ever more profoundly and invariably serious than Stonewall Jackson. Prior to the war he was professor of natural and experimental philosophy at the Virginia Military institute, and while in that position he made what is believed to have been his first and last joke.

One morning he called up a member of the graduating class, and with the utmost gravity pronounced the following scientific question:

"Why is it impossible to send a telegraphic dispatch from Lexington to Staunton?"

The cadet reflected for some moments, and then replied that the explanation of this phenomenon doubtless lay in the fact that the amount of iron ore in the mountain drew a magnetic current from the wires.

A covert smile touched upon Jackson's features, fled away, and he said: "No, sir; you can send your seat."

Another was called up, but he too failed to explain the mystery. A third, and then a fourth were equally unsuccessful, Jackson listening to their theories with profound attention, but with the same sly smile which had greeted the first attempt.

This smile probably attracted the attention of the next cadet who was called. His countenance lighted up, his lip broke into a smile in return, and he said:

"Well, Maj. Jackson, I reckon it must be because there is no telegraph between the two places."

Artistic Exaggeration.

Col. Wade, representative from a Missouri district, has made for himself quite a reputation for artistic exaggeration—and it takes an artist in this line to attract attention to a national capital. Col. Wade wears a military coat buttoned close to his chin, giving him much the appearance of a preacher. His delivery is very impressive and, with the unassuming, convincing. The colonel would not hesitate to claim that in a historic game of draw poker played for coffee beans out at his farm, he drew three cards to a pair of queens and filled out a royal sequence, and no one but an expert would doubt what the colonel said, and even the expert would not question his sincerity. Recently Col. Wade took a trip down the river and spent a few days in quiet Maryland. When he returned he found a constituent from a remote part of his district waiting to see him. The colonel was an affable. He took the Missourian to the house and in the course of a full in the proceedings escorted him to the restaurant. A member who sat near Col. Wade's table heard him relating the circus antics of his trip. "Out in Missouri," he was saying, "you get no idea what the world is. You see none of the wonders of nature. The east, sir, is something wonderful. You have heard of the big trees of California? They are nothing—nothing at all, sir—to what I saw the day before yesterday. What would you think of an oak tree 255 paces in diameter? I paced it off myself. I would not trust any one else. And fishing in the bay! Why, I saw one man pull out 3,000 fish in a day. Fact, sir. They never eat fish there. They use them for fertilizers." And the open mouthed Missourian sat with his eyes bulging from his head, without a sign of doubt or suspicion on his face.—Chicago Herald.

The Ruling Passion.

The comedian Elliston used to tell a story that humorously illustrates the ruling passion strong in death.

Macready was at one time alarmingly ill—so ill that the most serious consequences were feared and the most desponding steps taken, such as the administration of the sacrament, etc. Elliston called to see him and was dying tragically, who feebly expressed a belief in his approaching dissolution. Elliston, deeply moved by his friend's prostration, offered to do any service in his power, strongly enjoined the family to keep the sufferer quiet and glided on tiptoe out of the room. He had not reached the bottom of the staircase when an audible whisper reached him: "Mr. Elliston, step up for a moment, Mr. Macready wishes to speak to you."

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—The woods are full of chestnuts.
—A splendid must. A good acreage is being sown.

—Jas. H. Brown, of Louisville, spoke to a good audience here Saturday.

—Born to the wife of James H. Brown yesterday, a boy—Harvey McKenzie.

—Jasper Pickles brought to town a large radish 18 inches long, weighing 5 pounds.

—Rev. C. C. Woodall, of Skaggs creek, has killed four wild cats in the last two months.

—All old accounts and notes due F. L. Thompson will be found in the hands of C. C. Williams if not paid on or before November 1st.

—Our neighboring village, Brodhead, had a double wedding Tuesday. Thos. Cherry to Miss Susie B. Woodard and Geo. M. Melvin to Miss Elva Moore, of Boone county. The party embarked for Cincinnati the same day.

—F. F. Chesnut, of Orlando, this county, who with James Kitts has been selling goods at that place for some time, disappeared Monday night. Mr. Kitts has not been seen since that evening, and it is said they fled together. Chesnut is a married man with 6 children.

—Saturday evening at Round Stone, C. Lair and Walter Turpin, while under the influence of liquor, got into row. In the melee Lair received two balls from Turpin's pistol, one in the breast, which passed out through his back, the other in the thigh. Both parties have been and are yet good friends. Turpin visits the wounded man daily. Lair will probably recover.

—T. C. Berry, night operator, has been transferred to Livingston, and William Banks, from the E. T. road, placed here. Wm. Baker has been appointed town marshal, instead of Thomas Proctor, resigned. J. W. Brown is in Kansas looking up a location. E. T. Fish has entered school at Milligan, Tenn. J. M. Williams has returned from Milligan and entered college at Mitchell, Ind. Night operator Mace Miller is at home on the sick list.

—The McCreary club will meet here on Saturday, Oct. 13, to transact important business. Democratic meetings will be held at the following places on dates given below: Skaggs creek, at Bradley's mill, Tuesday, Oct. 16; Livingston, school house, Wednesday, October 17; Copper creek, Tate's mill, Friday, Oct. 19; Proctor's school house, Saturday, Oct. 20. All democrats are earnestly requested to attend these meetings. Clubs will be organized at all the above places on dates given and at other points in the county later.

—Chauncy Larkins, a young farmer near Stephenstown, N. Y., courted six girls in one week and all refusing him, he went and hanged himself.

—After serving 33 years of a life sentence the governor of New York has pardoned Michael Gorman. He is now an old man and must be supported by his friends, if he has any.

—John Spain and George Le Blanche, the Marine, convicted of aiding and abetting the female prize-fight on Navy Island, were sentenced respectively to five and a half and three months in the penitentiary.

—A St. Paul paper, with the reports from each county, figures the decrease in the crop of wheat this year against last at 40 per cent. in Dakota and Minnesota, which would make the yield about 60,000,000 bushels.

—The Grand Army of the Republic contains 400,000 members, of whom 350,000 are republicans, and yet is said to be a non-political organization. It would be a good thing if every democrat would withdraw from the show and make it unanimous.—[Louisville Times.]

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Hon. James B. McCreary, Democratic nominee for Congress in the 8th Congressional District of Kentucky, will speak at the following times and places:

Salvia Friday, October 12th
Harrodsburg, Saturday, October 13th.
Danville, Monday, October 15th.
Nicholasville, Tuesday, October 16th.
Mt. Vernon, Wednesday, October 17th.
Hustonsville, Thursday, October 18th.
Richmond, Saturday, October 20th.
Lancaster, Monday, October 22nd.
Mt. Vernon, Tuesday, October 23rd.
London, Wednesday, October 24th.
McKee, Thursday, October 25th.
Booneville, Friday, October 26th.
Annville, Saturday, October 27th.
East Bernstadt, Monday, October 29th.

Speaking will begin at 7 p. m. each day. Time will be divided with other candidates for Congress.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKING.

In addition to the appointments of Hon. James B. McCreary at Stanford on the 17th, and at Hustonsville on the 18th of October, the Democratic County Committee has arranged for speaking at the following times and places:

Waynesburg, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20th, '88.
Goshen, Saturday evening, Oct. 20th.
Stanford, Monday afternoon, Oct. 22nd.
Crab Orchard, Saturday afternoon Oct. 27th.
McKinney, Saturday night, Oct. 27th.
Stanford, Monday afternoon, Oct. 29th.
Highland, Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 31st.
Preachersville, Wednesday night, Oct. 31st.
South Fork Station, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1.
Milledgeville, Thursday night, Nov. 1st.
Hustonsville, Friday afternoon, Nov. 2nd.
Bright's School House, Friday night, Nov. 2nd.
Ottensheim, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 3rd.
Kingsville, Saturday night, Nov. 3rd.

The names of the speakers to fill these appointments will be announced as soon as arranged.

Are you made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. McRoberts & Stagg, Stanford, Ky.; Crow & Co., McKinney Ky.; E. W. Jones, Crab Orchard, Ky.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford, Ky.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of the Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in the best of health." Sample bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood. Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial Fevers. For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50c and $1 per bottle at A. R. Penny's drug store.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy, a positive cure for Catarrh, Dysphtheria and Canker-Mouth. McRoberts & Stagg, Stanford, Ky.; Crow & Co., McKinney Ky.; E. W. Jones, Crab Orchard, Ky.

Why will you cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief? Price 10c, 50c and $1.00. McRoberts & Stagg, Stanford, Ky.; Crow & Co., McKinney, Ky.; E. W. Jones, Crab Orchard, Ky. The Rev. Geo. H. Thayer, of Bourbon, Ind. says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption Cure. McRoberts & Stagg Stanford, Ky.; Crow & Co., McKinney, Ky.; E. W. Jones Crab Orchard, Ky."

FARMS. One of the best in Lincoln Co., 233 Acres; 50 Acre fruit farm and 35 Acre good knob land, will be sold October 20. Send for bill with complete information. B. H. King, Moreland, Ky.

FARM FOR SALE.

On account of bad health, I offer for sale my farm containing 125 acres farming land, well improved, and 20 acres timber land near by. For particulars address, R. P. ESTES, 54-tf
McKinney, Lincoln county, Ky.

LAND FOR SALE.

100 acres on the Somerset and Crab Orchard road half way between the two places. Well of good water at end of porch. Half cleared and 50 acres in grass. A good outlet for cattle, hogs and sheep. W. G. WALLACE, 53-tf Dahway, Ky.

SAW MILL FOR SALE!

Also Land and Stock
As I desire to leave Kentucky I will sell at great sacrifice 2 saw mills complete with 30 horse engines and 2 horse engines, 2 saw works, 1 ox log wagon and 3 horse wagons, 1 buckboard, 1 spring wagon, 3 yokes of cattle, 3 mules, 1 horse, grist mill complete, and my farm of 500 acres of snob land well timbered. Will sell privately. MARK SMITH, Maywood, Ky. 58-tf

PUBLIC SALE!

We will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on

SATURDAY, OCT. 20, '88,

On the premises at

FINE FARM OF 271 ACRES,

Known as the "Chilhowie Farm," formerly owned by Dr. R. J. Breckinridge, and situated on Knob-Lick about 2 miles from Shelby Ky. A good residence on the farm and the outbuildings in good repair; abundance of fine water. The farm is well fenced and in a fine state of cultivation. This farm will be sold publicly on the above date if not sold privately before. A bargain can be had in his farm.
TERMS.—Half cash and balance in 1 and 2 years, in equal payments, with interest.
T. P. HILL and J. W. ALCON, Stanford, Ky. 69-tf

NEWCOMB HOTEL.

MT. VERNON, KY.

This old and well-known Hotel is still maintaining its fine reputation. Charges reasonable. Special attention to the traveling public.
M. P. NEWCOMB, Prop., Mt. Vernon, Ky. 83-tf

JACKSON HOUSE.

LONDON, KENTUCKY.

CAPT. FRANK B. RILEY, PROPRIETOR.

Thoroughly Renovated and Refurnished, First-class Fare and Reasonable Prices. Day and night Trains are met by Police Porters, for this Popular House. 207-tf

WOOD WALLACE,

THE GENTS' FURNISHER,

513 4th St., Louisville.

The fashions of the day in the Gents' Furnish. ing line will always be found in my store. I am agent for the Indianapolis Steam Laundry, the best Laundry in the world.

FOR SALE.

Two Pianos, one Organ, two Wardrobes, two Dining Room Safes, one Walnut Extension Dining Table, one Book-Case, one large Bedstead and Wire Springs, Pillows, Blankets, Coal Oil Tank and many other things. For cash these articles can be had at a bargain. Apply to ALEX S. PAXTON, 58-tf

—Also 2 clocks, pillows Blankets and three good mattresses.

S. O. DAVIS,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

MT. VERNON, KY.

Office next door to Whitehead's Drug Store. Special attention given to diseases of children 277-tf

J. H. HILTON. F. R. DAVIS.

HILTON & DAVIS

—DEALERS IN—

General Merchandise,

ROWLAND, KY.

Have just opened a new stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Dry Goods, Notions and Family Groceries. Also dealers in Coal. Country produce taken in exchange for goods at highest market price. Come one, come all, and learn the advantages in trade. 10-6m

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall Street, New York.

I have moved

MY MEAT SHOP

To Lancaster street, opposite the Court-House. I also keep a lot of BRICK on hand ready for sale. W. F. RAMSEY, Stanford, Ky.

FOR SALE.

House and 25 Acres Land

Two miles South of Stanford on Neal's Creek Address me at Carlisle, Ky. W. CRAIG.

TO BUILDERS!

I am agent for The Cincinnati Porter Iron Roofing Company and am prepared to furnish their

IRON ROOFING

At $1.75 per square, nails, paint, &c., included. Give me a trial. T. L. SHELTON, Rowland, Ky. 69-tf

NEW COAL YARD.

I am Agent For The

SUPERIOR LILY COAL,

And will keep it constantly on hands in my yards. Also Lime, Sand and Hair.

Give me a Call

JOHN B. HIGGINS, Stanford.

69-tf

To the Farmers of West Lincoln, Casey and Elsewhere.

Having been authorized by Mr. C. C. VanArsdale, proprietor of Hustonsville Roller Mills, as his agent for the purchase of wheat in this section of country, I call with confidence on my old and tried friends of the farming public to see me before engaging their crops elsewhere. Having been in the trade about twenty years, I am familiar with the business. I feel warranted, therefore, in the declaration that I will be able to facilitate the transfer of your crops to the advantage of all concerned. J. B. GREEN, 38

PUBLIC SALE OF A GOOD LINCOLN FARM.

And Personalty.

I will sell at public auction on my place on the Danville and Hustonsville pike, 15 miles from the latter place and 1/2 mile from Moreland Station, and convenient to churches and schools, on

Wednesday, Oct. 17, 1888,

My Farm of about 315 Acres of Blue-Grass Land. About 75 acres in cultivation; 25 acres in timber and the remainder in grass. It has on it a 2-story frame dwelling, containing 7 rooms. The outbuildings are roomy and in good repair. Farm is well watered. The place will be offered in three parts and then a whole, and the best aggregate price. Terms made known on day of sale. Possession given immediately, or as the purchaser desires.

At the same time and place I will sell my personal property, consisting of 2 good farming brood Mares, both of them in foal to a jack; one good saddle and harness Horse, and one 2-year-old Filly and one 2-year-old Horse, one 4-year-old work mare Mule, 1 weanling Mule Colt, 6 or 8 head of Milk Cows, a lot of young cattle, consisting of Steers, Heifers and Calves, a lot of Hogs and Shoats; a good lot of Farming Implements and Household and Kitchen Furniture; to 12 tons of Timothy and Millet Hay, a lot of Oats, a small lot of Wheat and a lot of Corn.

Terms liberal and made known on day of sale. T. D. English, Auctioneer. Moreland, Ky. P. S. 30 bee hives will be sold also.

THE GALT HOUSE,

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST

HOTEL IN THE CITY.

RATES $2.50 TO $4 PER DAY. ACCORDING TO ROOMS;

TURKISH & RUSSIAN BATHS IN HOTEL.

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

Good turnouts and saddle horses always for hire on reasonable terms. London is the most convenient point on the railroad to reach places in the in the mountain section of the State. 10

W. N. JACKSON & CO., PRO'RS.

LONDON, KY.

Good turnouts and saddle horses always for hire on reasonable terms. London is the most convenient point on the railroad to reach places in the in the mountain section of the State. 10

MYERS HOTEL,

STANFORD, KY.

E. H. BURNSIDE, PROPRIETOR.

This old and well-known Hotel still maintains its high reputation, and its Proprietor is determined that it shall be second to no country Hotel in the State in its Fare, Appointments, or Attention to his Guests. Baggage conveyed to and from depot free of charge. Special accommodations to Commercial Travelers.

LEE F. HUFFMAN,

SURGEON DENTIST,

STANFORD, KY. KENTUCKY.

Office south side Main, two doors above Depot St.

A. S. PRICE,

SURGEON DENTIST,

STANFORD, KY.

Office on Lancaster street, in room recently vacated by Dr. W. B. Penny

O. H. M'ROBERTS, M. D.,

STANFORD, KY.

Having removed to this place from Liberty, to practice his profession, calls the attention of the public to the fact that he will be ready at all hours day or night to answer calls in town or country. Thirty years of his life were spent in Stanford and he deems it unnecessary to speak of his ability as a physician and surgeon. A share of the patronage of the people of Stanford and vicinity is asked by him. 65-tf

Mountain Lands!

I have 400 acres, more or less, of Mountain, Coal and Timber Lands that I will sell at a bargain. I have a store room to rent for a furniture and undertaking, hardware or tinners establishment. These are good for 30 days. For further information, write to C. W. METCALF, Barboursville, Ky. 38

LUMBER YARD!

I have purchased the lumber yards of Messrs. George D. Wearren and I. M. Bruce and will open a big yard at the one purchased of Mr. Wearren. Besides lumber in rough and dressed, I will carry a large line of window sashes, doors and shingles, laths, posts and the picket fence formerly sold by Mr. Wearren. 13-17t S. G. HOCKER

NEW BUTCHER SHOP.

I have opened a butcher shop at Row and in the Ferris Store house and am prepared to furnish the public with all kinds of meats, fish and oysters in their season. As heretofore I will continue running my wagon de vivand and make to my customers in Stanford and vicinity. M. F. ELKIN, 22-tf

FEME SOLE NOTICE.

Clerk's Office of the Lincoln Circuit Court, October 3, 1888. Sallie Belle Hiatt, plaintiff, against James H. Hiatt, Defendant. In Equity.

Notice is hereby given that the plaintiff, Sallie Belle Hiatt, has filed in the clerk's office against the defendant, James H. Hiatt, praying the court to empower her to act as a feme sole with all the rights and privileges authorized by Section 6, Art. 2, of Chap. 52 of the General Statutes of Kentucky, Title, husband and wife and that this notice has been ordered by the clerk to be published in the INTERIOR JOURNAL, a newspaper published at Stanford, Lincoln county, Ky. J. P. BAILEY, Clerk. W. H. MILLER, Atty.

A New Livery, Feed and Sale Stable!

I have purchased the brick Stable on

Depot Street, Stanford,

Formerly occupied by J. E. Bruce, but more recently by John B. Carpenter. I have put the Stable in thorough repair and am furnishing it with feed of all kinds, a barn

New Stock of First-Class Buggies,

Surreys, &c.,

And am prepared to accommodate all who may favor me with their patronage. Give me a trial. 66-tf J. N. MENEFEE

CUT THIS OUT.

L. SCHLEGEL, the Richmond Photographer, will be in Stanford, Tuesday, October 2 and 30 Tuesday, November 13 and 27. Tuesday, December 11 and 26.

And will give prizes on those days by using the instantaneous process. Pictures can be made just as well on cloudy as on clear days. I also wish to mention that parties having Pictures to be taken in Grayson, Water Color or Oil, will find it to their advantage to have it done at home instead of sending them off with strangers, as I can copy them just as cheap and give entire satisfaction. Thanking the people of Lincoln county for their patronage, and hoping for a continuance of same, I am Very Respectfully, J. L. SCHLEGEL, Photographer. 60-tf

SPECULATION.

GEO. A. ROMER,

BANKER AND BROKER

42 & 44 Broadway and 51 New Street,

NEW YORK CITY.

Stocks, Bonds, Grain, Provisions and Petroleum.

BOUGHT, SOLD & CARRIED ON MARGIN

P. S.—Send for explanatory pamphlet. 61-17

THE FLORENCE

WASHING MACHINE

I have bought the right to sell the Florence Washing Machine and am now prepared to furnish all who may wish to save their clothes from the rubbing and tearing incident to the old process of washing. Take one and try it and be convinced. I'll not worry you about buying unless you are fully satisfied as to its merits.

The undersigned has purchased the Florence Washing machine and after a thorough trial, we take pleasure in adding our testimony to its worth, and without hesitation pronounce it a success in every particular, doing all that is claimed for it:

Wm. Daugherty, J. W. Wallace, Dr. Bourne, Mrs. S. P. Salter, A. C. Sine, Bill Perkins, Lewis Dudderar, J. E. Lynn, L. L. Dawson, C. Vandy, Mrs. Amanda Peak, George Peyton, Alex. Holclaw, C. C. Field, Albert Camden, Sam Raines, R. E. Harrow, A. M. Feland and many others.

M. F. ELKIN,

Headquarters at S. S. Myers' store.

R. B. GEOGHEGAN,

SUCCESSOR TO—

M'MICHAEL, THE HATTER,

511 4TH AVENUE,

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY.

The Nobblest & Most Stylish

—Stock of—

FALL HATS,

Ever brought to the city of Louisville, now open including the world-renowned

KNOX & JOHN S. STETSON & CO'S HATS

And a so my own importation of English Hats and Caps. An elegant line of Cane and Lyon's Celebrated Umbrellas always on hand. Fine

SEAL SKIN SACQUES, CAPS,

Gloves and other Furs, a specialty. Orders outside of city solicited, perfect satisfaction guaranteed. Don't fail to order a NOBBY HAT. 22 17t

COFFINS, CASKETS, ROBES.

WALL PAPER and FURNITURE.

COMPLETE STOCK ALWAYS ON HAND.

B. K. WEAREN.

Physicians prescriptions accurately compounded.

A. R. PENNY,

DRUGGIST & JEWELER.

DRUGS, BOOKS, STATIONERY,

FANCY ARTICLES, &C.

Physicians prescriptions accurately compounded.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF WATCHES,

CLOCKS, JEWELRY & SILVERWARE.

Ever brought to this market. Prices lower than the lowest. Watches, Clocks and Jewelry Repaired on short notice and warranted.

H. C. RUPLEY,

MERCHANT TAILOR